Prairie Wheat To Be On Way To Victoria By Middle of Month

Elevator Company Expects First Grain to Reach Victoria Without Delay; Preliminary Shipment Coming to Test New Ogden Point Plant.

Prairie wheat for the new Victoria elevator will be en route here by October 15, D. S. Tait, solicitor for the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited, announced to-day, after receiving advice from A. J. Gibson, managing director of the company. Mr. Tait is expecting further and more definite advice shortly.

A small shipment of grain, en route for an elevator test, may be in Victoria soon, when it will be put through the Ogden Point warehouse before officials for the city, contractors, and the Panama Pacific Company.

On Monday it was announced that the Canadian National Railways had made permits available for the loading of grain for Victoria, throwing the route by the C.N.R. via Port Mann to Victoria open to prairie shippers.

Plans are now being considered for a public ceremony at the elevator at which city and Provincial Government officials will be invited to be present. Before the end of the month the contractors and inspection officials are expected to complete their work at the site.

$6,000,000 HOTEL FOR VANCOUVER

C.N.R. to Erect One of Finest Hotels in Dominion

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—Excavation work on the new $6,000,000 Canadian National Hotel on Georgia Street between Hornby and Burrard Streets will start by November 1. W. A. Kingsland, general manager of the Canadian National Railways for the western region, revealed in Vancouver to-day while here on a short business trip.

"The main plans are ready, and the hotel will be one of the finest in the Dominion," Mr. Kingsland said. "It is hoped that it will be ready for the tourist season of 1930."

An unprecedented influx of prairie farmers to Vancouver this fall is predicted by Mr. Kingsland. Conditions in the three prairie provinces are thriving, he said, and the railroads are preparing for a large westward traffic. More than ten times as much wheat is coming into Vancouver over the lines of the Canadian National Railways than was moving at this time last season, he said.

The increase in wheat traffic to the port of Vancouver is astounding," said Mr. Kingsland.

CALLS HOOVER WORLD LEADER

Engineer of Human Happiness, Says Wilbur of Republican Nominee

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 5.—Secretary Wilbur declared in an address here last night that the competition which has already advanced with such astounding rapidity, Herbert Hoover is a world leader. We need a world leader for a world power.

The Navy Secretary described Hoover as "the engineer of human happiness," and said that he believed the election of the Republican candidate "will mark an epoch in American politics. Without entangling alliances at home or abroad, he can lead us forward on the path of destiny along which we have already advanced with such astounding rapidity, Herbert Hoover is a world leader. We need a world leader for a world power."

A. & N. VETERANS TO BUY QUARTERS

Purchase of the premises in which their club quarters are situated at 512 Fort Street was decided upon by members of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Victoria Unit No. 12, at a special meeting last night.

The present quarters have been occupied by the club for nearly five years and the lease will expire in March next year.

The project was unanimously favored, it being pointed out that the continued gradual growth of the unit warranted the outright purchase of the premises.

KIDNAP VICTIM AND HIS MOTHER

Honolulu, Oct. 5.—A jury found Myles Yutaka Fukunaga, nineteen, guilty of the murder of Gill Jamieson, ten, after an hour and forty-five minutes deliberation yesterday. Fukunaga kidnapped and slew the son of Frederick W. Jamieson, Honolulu banker, September 18. His conviction carries the death penalty.

Montreal Mayor Candidate For Federal Seat

Montreal, Oct. 5.—Mayor Camille Houde has announced his candidature as a Conservative in the St. Mary's Division, Montreal. Seven Liberal standard-bearers have announced their intention of contesting the seat.

The provincial by-election was made necessary by the unseating of the member-elect at the last general elections by court action. Nomination Day has been set for October 17 with election day a week later.

Rabbit Injures Film Director In Wild Leap

Cedar City, Utah, Oct. 5.—Raoul Walsh, prominent Hollywood motion picture director, suffered serious injury to one eye and severe cuts about the face on the highway fifteen miles south of here last night, when a jack rabbit, blinded by the glare of the headlights of the automobile in which Walsh was riding, leaped through the windshield.

Mrs. Walsh, who was driving the machine from Zion National Park to Cedar City, was not injured.

JUDGE REBUKES CROWD'S LAUGHTER AT MURDER TRIAL

Christianity, Confucianism and Oriental Death Tortures Enter Into Evidence of Leung Chong at Vancouver Assizes.

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—More than partners, Detectives Ricci, Sinclair and Dineen were like brothers, testified Joe Wing on Thursday when describing the relations between the officers and himself at the trial in Assize Court of Leung Chong, who is charged with the murder on November 5 of Constable Ernest Sargent.

"I want the world to know there is one Chinaman who believes in humanity," stated the witness, who had been brought from New Westminster penitentiary, where he is serving a two-year term for conspiring to rob.

"I believe in Christianity and Confucianism," he added.

With the exclusion by reason of the Court of Appeal's judgment granting the accused a new trial of evidence relating to identification by the dying man in the hospital of his Chinese assailant, Joe Wing has become the star witness for the crown.

On Christmas Eve, in the city police station, Leung Chong, according to Joe Wing, told how he had killed Sargent. Leung Chong, according to Joe Wing, said, when asked why he shot the officer, that he was walking with the intention of burglarizing houses and was afraid that he might be searched and that a gun would be found in his pocket. Last time he was caught carrying a gun he received a prison sentence of two years, the accused explained, witnesses testified.

When the constable did not fall at the first shot, but opened fire, Leung Chong answered the fire, said Joe Wing. He threw the gun away after running three or four blocks later, testified Joe Wing, and Leung Chong, remarked that it was very hard to be hanged with the tongue sticking out.

"This is a civilized country and you will be tried by civilized law," witnesses testified he told the accused in an attempt to comfort him. "They don't apply the third degree like in our old and ancient China."

B.C. Japanese Problem Before Supreme Court

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—Exclusive power to legislate upon all matters covered by a treaty was claimed for the Dominion by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., before the Supreme Court of Canada this morning in the controversy on federal and provincial authority over navigation and water powers.

"The Dominion Parliament under section 122 of the B.N.A. Act," Mr. Rowell contended, "is vested with sole authority to legislate upon all matters covered by a treaty to which Canada is a party. This power may be exercised to the extent necessary to implement that treaty, to enact legislation which may encroach upon and invade matters which ordinarily would be exclusively within the provincial field as being properly matters of a local or private nature, for example, matters affecting property and civil rights."

VISITING LONDON BEFORE RETURNING

MR. H.Q.N. W.L. MACKENZIE KING

London, Oct. 5 (Canadian Press Cable)—Premier Mackenzie King of Canada will arrive in London to-morrow night for a brief visit before returning to Canada. During his stay Mr. King will be the guest of honor of Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner.

On Sunday Premier King will spend the day with Premier Stanley Baldwin. Mr. King will be the guest of the Canadian Club on Wednesday and Premier Baldwin and all the members of his Cabinet have been invited to attend. This will be Mr. King's only speaking engagement before he sails for Canada about October 19.

LONDON HOSTILE TO EVANGELIST

Mrs. Aimee McPherson Subject to Rigid Examination

London, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Aimee McPherson, Los Angeles, evangelist, was the subject of a rigid and rather hostile cross-examination last night when she granted her first interview to London newspapermen preliminary to her opening an evangelical campaign at Albert Hall Sunday night.

The U.S. woman preacher's unostentatious quarters at the Hotel Cecil were jammed with reporters who had been baffled for several days in finding trace of Mrs. McPherson, and with all the directness usually attributed in England to U.S. news hunters, they pried into her private life and persisted in knowing how much money she makes.

Mrs. McPherson, whose presence in England has met with hostility in some church quarters, maintained her calm and affability, carrying the intimate questions with witticisms and quite holding her own.

The reporters had so heavily piled on her sitting-room table that the table finally crashed under the burden, creating an amusing diversion in the midst of the inquisition.

SAANICH WINS APPEAL CASE

Court Turns Down Residents Seeking Damages From Municipality

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—Without a dissenting judgment the court of appeal to-day dismissed the appeal of Charles Newcomb and his wife, Sarah, who claimed damages from the corporation of the District of Saanich.

In supreme court the appellants' action was dismissed by Mr. Justice W. A. McDonald.

They alleged damage to two lots which they own in Saanich, and averred that the respondent municipality was to blame for the alleged diversion of water on the land.

Fifteen Solihula fishermen are respondents to an appeal by Anglo-British Columbia Packing Company Limited.

CANADIAN NATIONALITY DISTINCTIVE

F. P. Grove Tells Canadian Club of Country's Spiritual Awakening

Canada, in its growth toward nationhood, is presenting the world with something individual in the way of the new American civilization, according to Frederick Philip Grove, former Canadian immigrant, who, as the author of "A Search for America" and other books, has become one of the outstanding modern writers.

Mr. Grove arrived in Victoria this morning from his home at Rapid City, Man., and was the guest-speaker of the Canadian Club at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

"Nationhood must depend on a new or distinct shade in the generally tragic reaction of the human soul to the fundamental conditions of man's life on earth," Mr. Grove said.

EUROPEAN TRADITIONS

"In the general reaction to life and the universe of the people of Canada, and more especially of the older people, and again, more especially of the older people in our West, I discover a continuation of that old European tradition, as distinguished from the new-born American tradition, which has not yet found its way to the fundamentals."

"But I also discover something which subtly diverges from that European tradition."

"Yet, before I try to define these two things, I wish to wind up my central argument."

"That Canada is one day going to be the economic centre of the British Empire may well be. Those who know more about such things than I do assert it. But it is nothing to boast of. We did not lay down the clay of its spiritual which bears its 'wheat-fields'; we did not raise up its mountains nor wear them down to the point where they reveal their hidden treasures. We can boast only of what we have done ourselves. We can boast of the fact that we have stood out against the enormous pressure exerted upon us by a more powerful sister-nation and that we still represent an individuality in the American family."

A GREATER EMPIRE

"If we are worthy and able to hold on to and make truly ours what was handed down to us, then, perhaps, in the future, Canada stands a chance of counting as one of the spiritual units which will go to make up a greater British Empire. And that is all we can say at present."

"It remains for me to define, perhaps, to illustrate what I have found in certain strata of the ever-shifting population of our West. 'History teaches us that throughout mankind, a national movement, we might call it a unified national movement of art and thought, or of art and science' (Continued on page 3)

Crippled Yankees Prove Too Limber for St. Louis and Register Second Straight Victory in World's Series, Which Places Them in Envious Position to Take Championship; Phipps Pitches Sound Game for the Yanks, But Alexander Had No Tricks to Get By On; Gehrig Poles Out Home Run With Two On.

Yankee Stadium, New York, Oct. 5.—The Yankees, after a wobbly start, knocked their old Nemesis, Grover Cleveland Alexander, out of the box to-day and thrashed the Cardinals for the second straight game of the world's series. The score was 9 to 3.

"Murderers' Row" lived up to its reputation to-day, by knocking the ball to every corner of the lot. Every member of the Yanks played real championship ball and they look determined to take the title and the big slice of the million. With a two-game lead, Miller Huggins is now in a most strategic position.

After a poor start, George Phipps, who did show much in the latter part of the season, performed in a fine style, keeping the St. Louis sluggers well in check.

GEHRIG STARS

Lou Gehrig, the New York first baseman, was the star of the game. With two men on in the first inning he poled the ball into the stands for a home run. Duro and Ruth were on the base at the time, the former having singled while Babe walked.

The veteran Grover Alexander, failed to live up to expectations, and after the half of the second inning, said in the fourth inning, was replaced by Mitchell, the only left-handed spitball pitcher in the big league. Mitchell fared little better.

CARDS TIE SCORE

In the second inning the Cardinals rallied to tie the score but they were unable to stand the terrific pace set by the American Leaguers. Harper, in the fourth inning, was replaced by Mitchell, the only left-handed spitball pitcher in the big league. Mitchell fared little better.

BALLOON GOES UP

In the fourth inning, the balloon went up, the Yankees scoring four runs. Ruth led off with a single, and scored on Meusel's double. Robertson, in the half of the second inning, Bengough walked, was sacrificed to second by Phipps, and scored on Duro's slashing single, his second hit of the game.

The Yankees scored their ninth and final run in the eighth inning. The teams for to-day's game follow: New York—Duro, c.f.; Koenig, s.s.; Ruth, r.f.; Gehrig, 1b.; Meusel, 1f.; Lazzeri, 2b.; Robertson, 3b.; Bengough, c.; Phipps, p.

St. Louis—Douthitt, c.f.; High, 3b.; Frisch, 2b.; Bottomley, 1b.; Hafey, 1f.; Harper, r.f.; Wilson, c.; Maranville, s.s.; Alexander, p.

Umpires—Rigler (N.) at plate; McGowan (A.) at first base; Pifman (N.) at second base; Owens (A.) at third base.

FIRST INNING
Cardinals—Douthitt up. Phipps took a few final pitches in the box and Douthitt walked to the plate. The sun was now shining brightly and play began. Douthitt struck a long drive into the right field stands, which was hit by Douthitt out, Ruth to Gehrig. High up. A spectator made a nice catch of High's foul. High got a base on balls, the fourth pitch being high and inside. Frisch up. Frisch lined a hot line foul into right. Frisch also walked, the fourth pitch being high and wide. Bottomley up. Bengough almost picked Frisch off first with a snap throw to Gehrig. Bottomley fouled out to Bengough, who took the ball behind the plate. Hafey up. Hafey's foul denied Bengough's mask and he borrowed Hafey's bat to beat the bars in shape again. Hafey struck out, swinging for the third strike. Phipps had a hard inning, his curve was continually breaking wide of the plate. No runs, no hits, no errors. Two left on base.

Farmsteads Wiped Out In Alberta Prairie Fire

RENT BOOST PLAN TO BE ORGANIZED

Real Estate Board Unanimous That Rentals Far Too Low in Victoria

Unanimously favoring an upward revision in all classes of rentals, the Real Estate Board of Victoria this afternoon authorized appointment of a special committee to carry out an investigation and prepare a scheme applicable to all improved property in Greater Victoria.

H. C. Holmes, president, stated that low rentals lead to bad times and react to the loss of the rent citizen. Slackened building activity caused unemployment all along the line, said Mr. Holmes. He believed the Real Estate Board to be the proper organization to effect an upward revision of rents.

LOW EARNINGS

H. D. Patterson said that few properties in Victoria pay eight per cent net on the investment. The big demand for modern houses made easy a large increase in rentals, he pointed out. Mr. Patterson moved the appointment of an inquiry committee, and it was seconded by James Forman.

P. H. Shanks said that talk for many months had been going on of co-operation between realtors. His firm had recently instituted a general increase in all rentals, based on the individual circumstances of the properties and tenants. Only one tenant had preferred removal and his residence had been let forthwith at a rental above the former rate.

ALL BENEFIT

A Carmichael pointed out that the investor refused to put money into building, to net three per cent, when mortgages pay seven per cent and good bonds pay five per cent.

"Hubert Savage, architect, said many persons had refused to build while rentals were cheaper than owning homes."

ANSCOMB MAY BE CANDIDATE

Is Boomed For Federal Conservative Nomination as Preparations Start

After electing new officers last night and arranging their business for the next year, Victoria Conservatives have commenced active preparations for the Federal by-election to be held in the city before the end of the year. A convention at which the Conservative candidate will be chosen will take place in the near future.

Vancouver dispatches to-day said Premier Tomin had conferred in Vancouver last night with Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, on plans for the by-election here.

The latest addition to the list of possible candidates is Herbert Anscomb. While Mr. Anscomb said to-day he "knew nothing about the matter," his friends are boosting him for the nomination, although he is expected to be a candidate for mayor.

W. J. Bowser, K.C., former Premier; W. C. Moresby, K.C., and Lindsey Crease, K.C., are also mentioned as possible nominees.

TELLS OF PROGRESS

Progress of the Legion in the interior of British Columbia was traced by Col. Foster, who recalled recent visits to thirty-six branches of the organization all over the Province.

Taking the war as an example of common confidence and co-operation, Col. Foster outlined the way in which the Legion should strive for unity and goodwill. He mentioned outstanding incidents among leaders in the Great War, which showed the complete co-operation necessary in gaining victory.

Col. F. A. Robertson spoke of the organization of the Legion in Canada, pointing out that there were a total of 572 branches of which ninety-one were in British Columbia.

Col. Robertson discussed prospects for amalgamation of other organizations with the Legion. He thought the Amputations Association would eventually join with the Legion.

LANGFORD WAR VETERANS MEET

Legion Hears of Outside Activities of Soldier Movement

Langford, Oct. 5.—A record attendance of members of the Prince Edward Branch No. 91 of the Canadian Legion was present at the monthly meeting on Tuesday evening. President A. G. Mackie presided, and after conducting the local branch business, he introduced the Victoria district zone representative, W. G. Stone, who presided for the remainder of the meeting. He introduced the two speakers, G. H. Sedger, soldiers' advocate, and Robert Macneil, secretary of the British Columbia provincial command, Canadian Legion, B.C.S.L., who gave an interesting report of the last Dominion convention.

Mr. Stone in his remarks mentioned that the Victoria zone was one of the best organized in British Columbia, and contained eight branches. He thought that rural branches were the backbone of the legion, because the returned men's problems were more keen interest to the rural districts than in the cities. The value of the women's auxiliaries and their help could not be overestimated.

Mr. Sedger, amid applause, told how a local pensioner had just received satisfactory readjustment of his pension, and explained how the Federal Appeal Board for Pensions came into existence. He told instances how this board can occasionally override the decision of Government Pension Board. Concerted action on the part of branches was absolutely necessary for the well being of the legion, he urged.

Mr. Macneil also made an urgent plea for unity, and gave instances of help that many veterans had received. He explained that in industrial centres it was advisable for officers of the legion to keep in contact with employers of labor. Mr. Macneil said the increasing legion members had weight with politicians. The head of the Dominion problems, Sir Richard Turner, sent his good wishes to the local branch.

The legion has obtained the absolute right to distribute poppies and the work of making them should be left to the Red Cross work shops, it was stated.

Resolutions passed at the recent convention advised that more attention be paid to problem cases and also that the Provincial Government should be asked to take fifty per cent of the responsibility of certain cases, and urged that at least fifty per cent of all immigrants should be of British birth.

He told the members that the recent privilege passed by Parliament regarding the Insurance Act only held good until August, 1929. An invitation was given to hear Lieutenant-Colonel W. W. Foster on Thursday at the auditorium of the Pro Patria Branch in Victoria. Votes of thanks to the speakers concluded the evening, and refreshments were served by the following members of the Women's Auxiliary: Mrs. R. P. Brown, Mrs. P. Forman, Mrs. Henry Pike and Mrs. E. Shields.

Sooke

A meeting of Sooke branch, Canadian Legion, B.C.S.L., was recently addressed by R. Macneil, Provincial Secretary of the legion.

Bids for erection of the superstructure of the new Quesset bridge across the Fraser River are far too high in the opinion of Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works.

MR. BENNETT AND NOVA SCOTIA

AT CALGARY THE OTHER DAY HON. R. B. Bennett said that no national significance could be attached to the election in Nova Scotia. In Vancouver yesterday he said that Premier Rhodes had given the people of that province the best government they had had in years.

It depends upon how the people of Canada interpret "national significance." The result in Nova Scotia may have no special bearing upon the political complexion in a Federal sense in the other provinces of the Dominion; but it is an indication that Liberalism in that province is rapidly recovering the strength which it lost three years ago. It is emphatic from the provincial point of view. In Monday's verdict also is a reflection of the attitude of the people towards national affairs as they relate to Nova Scotia. Only a short time before the polling day Mr. Bennett, in his capacity as leader of the Conservative Party of Canada, toured the province and delivered a number of speeches, obviously with the object of assisting the party led by Premier Rhodes. He preached the gospel of blue-ruin, of "seeming prosperity" and high protection. As there are twelve Conservative representatives from Nova Scotia in the House of Commons and only two Liberals, it might have been supposed that Mr. Bennett's contribution to the recent campaign would have helped to produce a much different result. In other words, the leader of the Conservative Party of Canada may discover some Federal significance in last Monday's result after the people of Nova Scotia have selected the members who will represent that province in the next House of Commons.

As to Mr. Bennett's statement in respect of the kind of government which Premier Rhodes has given the people of Nova Scotia in the last three years, it is only necessary to remind him that such a complete turn in the political fortunes of a party, which has held office only three years, as that which took place last Monday is unique in the political life of this country. A majority of forty in a Legislature composed of forty-three members was reduced to one of three only—two after the appointment of a Speaker. To the average observer this will look like a fairly definite declaration of dissatisfaction on the part of the electorate.

It is obvious, of course, that the people of Canada as a whole are neither in sympathy with the policies which Mr. Bennett advocates nor in the mood to look at the spurious picture of Canadian conditions which he persists in painting. Nova Scotia had an opportunity of reminding him of this fact last Monday—and did so.

MR. MOUAT'S RETIREMENT

MR. A. N. MOUAT'S RETIREMENT from the important position of Comptroller-General in the public service of British Columbia will leave a gap in the Department of Finance which the new Government will find it difficult to fill. He is a master of accountancy in all its intricate forms; but his value to the Administration obviously was enhanced by his ability to combine a ripe business experience with his professional knowledge.

It will be remembered that soon after Mr. Mouat received his appointment from the late Government he played an important part in the reorganization of the Department with which he has been associated for eleven years. Newspapers and government officials in various parts of Canada paid eloquent tribute to his method of presenting the public accounts. From official Britain and the financial press likewise came many complimentary references. On several occasions, moreover, members of the Opposition in the last Legislature were warm in their praise of the manner in which he discharged his difficult tasks.

Mr. Mouat's name may be added to the roster of men from north of the Tweed who have played an important part in the development of Western Canada. Forty-six years of his life have been well and usefully spent in this country and he has rounded out an interesting career in a position in which he has achieved outstanding success. Thus, when he commences a well-earned holiday in the New Year, he will be able to look back upon tasks well done and recall a wide circle of friends who will wish him many years of life in which to enjoy the recreation to which he is entitled. With these good wishes The Times heartily associates itself.

THE WATCH ON THE RHINE

THERE WAS PRODUCED AT GENEVA the other day a document signed by Mr. Lloyd George, M. Clemenceau and the late President Wilson giving an undertaking that as soon as Germany gave proof of her goodwill and satisfactory guarantees, that she would fulfill her obligations in respect of reparations, the army of occupation on the Rhine would be withdrawn.

Germany's acceptance of the Dawes plan, her admission to the League of Nations, her participation in the Locarno agreements, her unreserved acceptance of the terms of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, not to mention the final blow at Hohenlorenzheim which the German people dealt at the general elections last May, surely should be considered a fair demonstration of her goodwill and an intention to abide by her promises in respect of reparations payments.

M. Briand, the French Foreign Secretary, has done good work in the cause of a better understanding between his country and Germany. But he is up against an element in France which still considers that the French frontier should be the left bank of the Rhine. If this attitude shall be persisted in, trouble in the future may be in store.

Incidentally, Germany has to pay the cost of occupation. This money could be diverted to reparations payments if the troops were withdrawn. Economically and otherwise the present policy looks like poor business.

TORIES AND "JOHN BROWN'S BODY"

IT IS NOT SURPRISING THAT PREMIER Baldwin has announced his intention of making a direct attack upon the Labor Party at the general election, instead of using "safeguarding" for his principal issue. Obviously he remembers how the electors treated him when he asked them to endorse Imperial Preference in 1923. Nor is he unmindful of the division of his Cabinet on this vital question. Mr. Churchill still remains an ardent free trader and Mr. Amery is a fixture in the high protectionist school.

In spite of what some of our own high protectionists say, of course, the people of Great Britain will not submit to an increase in the cost of living. And is the Conservative Party so wedded to its high tariff policy? According to The Toronto Globe's special cable from Great Yarmouth, where the Government opened its campaign the other day, the great gathering found an outlet for its enthusiasm in the singing of "Marching Through Georgia" and "John Brown's Body." Surely this must have jarred the susceptibilities of those members of the party who still would like to settle the affairs of the Empire from the recesses of those comfortable armchairs of which the Carlton Club is pardonably proud. What could be more preposterous than the importation from the United States, free of all duty, of course, of battle songs for the campaign of the great Conservative Party—the cornerstone of British imperialism? What sacrilege! And why has it discarded "Land of Hope and Glory"?

The explanation is simple. The same people who advocate an imperial economic unit, a tariff against the world—purely for the purpose of political manoeuvre—are the same people who stick to the good old free trade principle. If an American refrain, duty free, is considered suitable to the mood of a great gathering of Old Country Conservative high protectionists, they will sing it without hesitation. And if an Old Country Conservative finds he can buy a similar article produced in his own or another British country, he will buy it. And if there is one individual in the wide world with whom sentiment in business cuts scarcely any figure at all, it is the businessman of Britain. In what economic position would Great Britain find herself to-day if her people had not followed this policy? She reached her position as the principal creditor nation of the world by refusing every form of trade restriction. Mr. Churchill, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, is fully aware of this fact. That is why he still believes, as he said a few years ago, that "the Tory Party is a party of the vested interests, corruption at home, aggression to cover it up abroad; . . . the trickery of tariff jugglery . . . patriotism by the imperial pint . . . dear food for the million, and cheap labor for the millionaire."

But the Britannic Commonwealth of Nations will stand as a great force in the world in spite of the importation by the Conservative Party of American refrains, in spite of a free trade policy, the principles of which rest upon moral right, for, as Viscount Peel, an ardent Conservative, said as he left Canada with the members of the Empire Parliamentary Association last night, "we have realized in actual fact the immortal paradox—that greater freedom means greater unity."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MINERS IN THE WEST

The Winnipeg Free Press

Apart altogether from the undesirable, there are disquieting signs that a good many miners, coming here with honest intentions to buckle down to work, are going to be left stranded here and there at points in the West. This will mean that they will have to be sent home at public expense or maintained here at the cost of the community until they can be absorbed. This failure to get themselves placed in due measure, to their inability to adapt themselves to the conditions of a new and strange country. It is already clear that most of them came out with expectations not in keeping with the facts.

Local Commerce Chamber Head Gives Interesting Account of Trade Parley

P. B. Fowler Is Heard by Vancouver Board of Trade Section in Report on Convention of Pacific Foreign Trade Council at Los Angeles; Praises Address of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald.

In a comprehensive address covering various angles of the gathering and several of the addresses given, P. B. Fowler, President of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, reported in Vancouver to-day to the Foreign Trade section of the Vancouver Board of Trade on the annual convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council in Los Angeles recently.

Mr. Fowler's speech was as follows:

HEAVY REPRESENTATION

"I bore rather a heavy burden of representation to the meeting; in the first place I represented my employers, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, then as president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, as appointed representative of your board, and at the eleventh hour I was requested by The Hon. the Premier to represent him, and I carried with me the credentials of the Province of British Columbia. Our friends across the line immediately added a prefix to my name, and I appeared in all programmes as the Hon. P. B. Fowler, and as such was called upon to rise and bow at each succeeding luncheon and dinner, much to my embarrassment, indeed the flush of it is still on my cheeks. Verily a prophet is not without honor save in his own country.

"The outstanding feature was the address given by Judge M. A. Macdonald of the British Columbia Court of Appeal. It was along very similar lines to his address at your annual dinner last February, and was a beautiful piece of oratory. In it he went back into history, sketching out the shifting of trade routes with the vision of the Pacific Ocean being ultimately the largest commercial highway of the world. It was generally conceded to be one of the most brilliant speeches ever delivered in the City of Los Angeles.

"At the same banquet a very thoughtful paper was presented by Mr. George Kates, foreign representative of Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation, entitled 'Motion Pictures as a Foreign Trade Factor,' in which he dealt with the care necessary in preparing films for the foreign market. He mentioned that anything touching etiquette, customs, costumes, etc., of a foreign country have to be correct in the minutest detail, as in its relative land such matters are open to searching criticism. The translation of sub-titles also requires a good deal of care, and idioms and sayings presented innumerable difficulties. As an instance he mentioned a certain play where a sub-title, 'The Spirit is willing but the flesh is weak,' was translated into 'There was lots of wine but the meat was bad.'

"His Excellency Mahmoud Samy Pasha, Egyptian Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States, also gave a short address in perfect English, very much as to his experiences in America, and drew special attention to date-growing in California. He stated that the date-bearing palms originally came from Egypt but that the Americans, by improved methods, were now producing dates of better quality than in their original habitat.

"Mr. Henry M. Robinson was toast master at the banquet; he was, as you all know, associated closely with Daves in preparing the Reparation Treaty.

CONTACTS

"The Foreign Trade Council is merely for convention purposes alone, and does not take away or duplicate the activities of Chambers of Commerce. It is useful for purposes of contact, educational in scope, and the means of securing many viewpoints.

"Papers presented covered a number of subjects, too numerous for me even to mention to-day in the limited time at my disposal, and I can only refer to some phases which appealed to me more particularly.

"University professors figured largely in the list of addresses, and I was greatly impressed by the deductions, construction and viewpoint of the trained academic mind on statistical and other data, and looked at from the aloof position of a student. This later on led me to appreciate fully an extemporary speech by Professor Mears of Stanford, in which he advocated a laboratory of research into Foreign Trade with a view to eliminating some of the hazards of the business by scientific research into prevailing conditions.

U. S. MERCHANT MARINE

"Then as to the difficulties our southern neighbors have under the want of an adequate merchant marine. It was pointed out that for ships of 2,000 gross tons and over, suitable for transoceanic service, they had been outbuilt by Great Britain 50 to 1, Germany 10 to 1, France 5 to 1, Italy 5 to 1 and Japan 4 to 1 in new ship construction. The United States is credited with only three per cent of the world ship construction activities, even Russia is its senior in this respect. The major handicap is due to higher shipbuilding costs, not to any lack of efficiency, or ingenuity, and the responsibility for this is the higher standard of living with resultant higher wages. This has led to the passing of the Merchant Marine Act of 1920 with a view to overcoming this disability.

"Another paper dealt with the trade expansion of the Pacific Coast, which lies in Latin America and the Far East, where there are almost a billion people. It went on to state that a relative low standard of living exists in these areas, and as their conditions improve so will Pacific Coast trade. At present only one-fifth of the United States export trade goes to these areas where the 1,000,000,000 people reside, yet fifty per cent of the total exports go to Europe where only twenty-seven per cent of the world's population lives. With a higher standard of living Japan has tripled its total commerce in thirteen years, and in spite of political disturbances China has doubled its trade in the same period.

"The per capita trade in China is $3.20, in the United States it is $82. If China's standard was up to that of the United States its purchasing power would be $32,000,000,000.

PORT EXPANSION

"Some further figures dealt with the expansion in Pacific Coast ports, and it was stated that in 1914 they only had 5.77 of the total exports and 7.29 per cent of the total imports of the United States, whereas in 1927 it had increased to 10.4 per cent for the one and 12.4 per cent for the other.

"Another interesting paper was given by the president of the Southern California Edison Company, and one statement made by him was of great interest. He stated that the point has been reached where the bulk of future expansion will be handled by building steam plants, and that at present fuel prices electricity may be generated and delivered as cheaply from steam as from any undeveloped water power site in that section.

OIL INDUSTRY

"The president of the American Petroleum Institute gave an interesting paper on that industry, and I quote from his address as follows: 'Despite the alarmist statements of the last ten years as to the probability of America being drained dry by oil, scientific methods each year have discovered a succession of new fields and have made possible drilling to depths formerly considered impossible where zones of great prolificness are being found. In the older fields, the introduction of gas under pressure has resulted in quadrupling the ultimate amount of oil possible to produce. Fields have been wholly or partially shut in and have been repressured with surplus gas so that when the economic need for the oil in these shut-in fields arises, it will be available.'

T. Lawrie and W. D. Mitchell.

The Temperance rally service held in the South Saanich United Church was well attended. Led by the president, Mr. Albert Hafer, the service was the same as followed by the Young People's rally held in Victoria. An address on 'The Evils of Alcohol' was given by Rev. M. W. Lee, and the challenge was accepted by Miss Christie MacNab and Mr. Roy Heyer, on behalf of the young people.

The weekly meeting of the Young People's Club of the United Church opened with a donation period led by Miss Christie MacNab and Rev. Mr. Lee gave an address on the Book of Genesis. Plans were made for decorating the church on Saturday afternoon for the harvest festival. A reading circle will be formed by the club, each member to purchase one book from a selected list, to be borrowed by other members.

The play committee have finally decided on 'He's My Pal,' as a suitable play for the club to present this season, and the secretary was instructed to send for copies.

At the close of the business session Mr. Lee took the chair for the literary committee and Miss Christie MacNab gave an interesting and instructive address on 'Modern Poetry and Reading some of their works.' The meeting closed with a social half-hour.

The World Citizenship committee have arranged to have their members meet at the members' next Monday evening, the subject to be 'A Citizen and Community Problems.'

ANNIVERSARY SALE OF FURNITURE

Here's What Honest Values Have Done

Sixteen years ago we opened a one-floor store on Pandora Avenue. To-day we have an entire building of five floors, 30x110, at 719 Yates Street. Last year we had to further extend our space and obtained an annex under the Sylvester Block, next door. This year we have found it necessary to take over a large storage on Topaz Avenue, and part of Scott Block to facilitate the handling and storage of our carload purchases. Only by keenest prices and exceptional service have we obtained this degree of success. We believe, however, there are some citizens not familiar with our large Exclusive House Furnishing Store, and it is at our anniversary period we make a special effort to further our business relations by giving worthwhile bargains in every department of our five floors.

W.A. BUDGET FOR MISSION WORK CHALLENGED

Delegate Asks Why More Money For China and Japan Than For India

Edmonton, Oct. 5.—An increase of six thousand dollars to the appropriation fund was the net result of the 1928 budget which was passed yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Missionary Society of the Anglican Church of England in Canada. The budget was passed without a dissenting vote, but not without considerable discussion.

"Why are we of the Women's Auxiliary doing so much for China and Japan and very much less for India, a part of our own Empire?" was the question of one delegate. The treasurer explained that the apportionment of money for foreign fields is done by the ecclesiastical board in England and is one of the hands of the Women's Auxiliary entirely.

SALARIES DIFFER
The salaries for missionaries in China was fixed at $750 at first, $850 after the first furlough and $900 after the second. Some of the delegates thought that the salaries of the missionaries to India should be raised to the same schedule but it was decided to let this matter wait until another year.

That the 25,000 copies of the Living Message, official organ of the Women's Auxiliary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, be mailed by the publishers instead of by the voluntary mailing committee who have done the work up to this time, was agreed on at the Thursday session of the Dominion Women's Auxiliary. This was considered a forward step necessary to obtain greater efficiency.

MAGAZINE PROFITS
Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, for twenty-five years editor of the magazine, moved that the profits accrued in this department be divided, $2,000 to be retained for a working balance for the secretary-treasurer of the magazine, $1,000 to be spent annually for improvement and enlargement as seems desirable and the balance, $5,000, which represents savings over a period of years, be given to the Dominion treasury for the expense fund and that from this time henceforth, the profits be given over to this fund. This resolution was unanimously carried and that of the 1927 triennial covering these funds rescinded.

NURSING GRANTS
A grant of $10 a month during the period of training for the beneficiaries under the educational committee who wish to become nurses, coinciding with the grants now made for normal school business education, was voted by the meeting. These beneficiaries are members of families of very poor missionaries who otherwise would be unable to receive necessary training.

Some beneficiaries are now receiving primary and secondary education in various schools under this fund.

The report of the consultative committee, represented by the corresponding committee, and dealing with appointments and furloughs of missionaries, terms of service, pension cooperation with other organizations, grants for missions, etc., was accepted by the board.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 5.—At the convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, an immigration policy embodying a quota law was approved yesterday in a resolution.

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

ECZEMA ON HEAD DIFFICULT TO CURE WHEN HAIR IS LONG

Mrs. J. J. A. writes: "My little girl of two and one-half years has eczema on her head and has had it a long time. I have tried everything but nothing helps. Her hair is very pretty and curly, but it is now getting thin and falling out terribly. I am thinking of cutting her hair and using sulphur and lard. Do you think she is old enough to take the medicine that goes with—'s' salve and soap? Will her hair come in curly again after cutting? Her father's hair is curly."

Mrs. Eldred

"My baby of three months weighs twelve pounds, having weighed six at birth. Has she gained enough? She spits up a great deal after nursing. Would you advise barley or lime water? Her little head has cradle cap, too, and after washing it looks very red and sore."

ANSWER: The diet of the older girl needs changing in some particular, and that "particular" is often an excess amount of fat in the diet, and I should cut down on the amount of grease in her food, and try skimmed milk for a while. Never give medicines of whose contents you know nothing. Medicines should be given by a doctor who knows what he is giving them for. Lots of salves are useful in helping to cure the eruption (but it always comes back so long as the dietetic error goes uncorrected).

Cutting won't affect her curly hair. How can readers think this with so many curly-headed men floating about whose hair has been cut regularly from infancy?

Lassar's paste is an old and well known remedy for eczema. Some doctors use some tar with this, and the druggist can prepare the remedy for you.

The small baby has doubled his birth weight in three months, and this usually happens at five months. The spitting up in that case is evidently due to too much food already and so adding barley water would be just an additional food. Lime water isn't used for nursing babies, but is sometimes put in unboiled cows' milk formulae to help break up the tough curds of cows' milk. Nurse the baby for five to ten minutes only, once in four hours, and perhaps a teaspoon or so of boiled water would help before each nursing.

Never scrape the crust of cradle cap. Wash head twice weekly with Castile soap, massaging the head afterwards. Rub in some warmed oil each day and continue this until the scalp is clear.

WILL CELEBRATE COLONY BIRTHDAY

Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. Plans For Tea Nov. 19 at Empress

Commemoration of the birthday of the Crown Colony of Vancouver Island will be celebrated this year by the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., with a birthday tea at the Empress Hotel on November 19, it was decided at yesterday's meeting of the chapter. Mrs. R. B. McKicking, the regent, presided. In reporting the chapter's share in the entertainment of the English schoolgirls, Mrs. McKicking asked for a standing vote of appreciation of the excellent work done by Mrs. Boyd, the chapter's echoes secretary, who had charge of the transportation of the visitors for three days, including the trip to Chemainus. The vote was unanimously accorded. Thanks were also expressed to Mrs. Walker, Mrs. G. R. Chisholm and Miss Gill, who prepared the charming course bouquets which were presented to each of the young visitors by Mrs. S. F. Tolmie at the house of the Parliament Buildings, and the chapter voted that a copy of the photograph taken on that occasion be presented to the archives as a memento of the pleasant hour spent in that department under the kind direction of Miss Russell and Mrs. Cree.

The two members of the chapter who had acted as hostesses to four members of the party were also thanked and reported having heard from their young visitors who were then in Nanaimo.

REPORTS GIVEN

The very interesting report of the travels' aid secretary of the Y.W.C.A. was received, also that of Miss J. Crease, on the Girl Guides' Summer Camps. Contributions to the expenses incurred by Municipal Chapter in connection with the schoolgirls, were voted, also $5 to the expense fund and $5 to the delegates' fund.

The education secretary, Mrs. E. C. Hayward, reported the presentation of bursaries, one of $20 to a pupil of the High School, and two of $10 each, to pupils of the St. James Douglas School. The chapter ordered seventy-five copies of the I.O.D.E. calendar and members were asked to send in their orders to Mrs. E. C. Hayward as soon as possible.

LEATHER AIDS SCHOOL: A very interesting letter was received from George Fraser of Uxaleet with regard to the amounts he receives from the chapter for leather, which he donates each year to the building of a school, which this year is complete and ready for occupation. This generous act of Mr. Fraser was highly commended.

Home Cooking Sale.—The Ladies' Welfare Club of St. Louis College will hold a sale of home cooking in the basement of David Spencer's Limited on Saturday morning, through the kindness of the management.

CRITICS LAUDED MME. EVA BAIRD

Exacting Paris Writers Pay Tribute to Victoria Artist

While in Paris this year continuing her vocal studies, Mme. Eva Baird gave several recitals which received the warmest encomiums from the exacting critics of that city. The fact is significant in that of the hundreds of artists who flock to Paris every year to seek recognition in the "musical world," few are accorded the honor of a critique, thus indicating that Mme. Baird's performance was far above the usual standard.

Vaultin of The Guide de Concert, said of her: "At the Salle Chopin, Eva Baird was heard in a programme which denoted excellent taste. In the works, one after another, charming and expressive, Eva Baird attained the success she merited by her art as a singer and her qualities as a musician."

Dany Brunschwig of Monde Musical said: "Eva Baird, a gifted singer of many languages, interpreted with a great deal of talent a very varied programme which was warmly applauded." Mme. Baird will appear in her first recital since her return from Europe on Tuesday evening at 8.30 o'clock at the Empress Hotel.

KOOTENAY W.I. CHOOSE LEADER

Creston, B.C., Oct. 5.—Mrs. E. P. Pitts, of Nelson, heads the Kootenay and boundary district women's institute for the ensuing year, being elected to that office by the newly-constituted board of directors. Mrs. Pitts was first vice president of the district for the past year.

Mrs. R. W. Chalmers, of Thrums, is vice president; Mrs. R. Stevens, Creston, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. S. F. McFarlane, Cranbrook, and Mrs. A. H. W. Crossley, Nelson, complete the board. This widely-flung executive was chosen by the official delegates of twenty-four local institutes.

Metchozin Women's Institute Meets

Metchozin, Oct. 5.—The regular meeting of the Metchozin Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon in the committee room of the hall. The president, Mrs. H. M. Bolton, occupied the chair and there was a good attendance of members. The treasurer read a letter of thanks from Dr. Wace for a donation sent to the Institute. Other correspondence included a letter from the secretary of the Premier accepting the invitation extended to Premier Tolmie to be present at the pioneer entertainment on October 19, and a letter from the secretary of the Lieutenant-Governor regretting that owing to a prior engagement His Honor and Mrs. Mackenzie would not be able to be present but wishing the institute every success. Hon. R. H. Pooley and Mrs. Pooley will be present on this occasion.

A resolution from Hornby Island, asking for the support of the W.I. in its endeavor to obtain better transportation to and from the island, was endorsed by the meeting. A resolution was received from the Royal Oak W.I. asking for support in its efforts to suppress objectionable advertising in certain papers and magazines. The president asks that contributions for the Alexandra Solarium be left at the vicarage before Monday, October 15, as the boxes will be dispatched on that day.

Classes in glove making will be held in the near future, fourteen members having given in their names as desirous of having these classes. The members decided to give two prizes to the pupils of Metchozin School and Albert Head School. One prize will be given to the child showing the most improvement during the year, the other for drill and posture. One prize for each subject will be given to Metchozin School and one to Albert Head.

All arrangements for the pioneer entertainment were discussed and completed. Tickets may be obtained from all W.I. members. Mrs. Deveson, convener of the supper committee, reported that donations had been promised by Messrs. Scott & Peden, David Spencer's Limited, Hudson's Bay Company and M. A. D. Ellwood of the Metchozin Post Office and General Store. The members decided to buy new curtains for the hall windows. At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Kevil and Miss Mawle.

Knox Ladies' Aid.—At the meeting of the Knox Presbyterian Ladies' Aid yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. H. Davies in the chair, an announcement was made that $80 had been turned in towards the plumbing fund. Many fancy articles have already been received for the bazaar on November 7, at which the stallholders will be: Home cooking, Mrs. Foubister and Mrs. Donald; fancy work, Mrs. Roy and Mrs. Ritchie; Christmas tree, Mrs. H. W. Ruttie; plain sewing, Mrs. Schley and Mrs. Cameron; candy, Mrs. Oursie and the C.G.I.T. girls; tea, Miss McPhail, Miss Wilshire and Mrs. McGregor. The C.G.I.T. girls will also have a stall. Plans were made for a congregational Halloween social on Friday, October 27. The next sewing meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. W. Dopp, 1754 Lee Avenue, next Thursday afternoon.

I.O.D.E. Tea and Sale.—The Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., will hold a tea and sale of work at Mrs. Thorpe's, 1508 Fernwood Road, to-morrow at 3.15 p.m. Mrs. C. C. Wain and some of her pupils will give a musical programme.

Oh, lots of women gloomy grow When backward turns their gaze, While with regrets of vanished joys They view, 'mid present avoidpools, The light of other days.

"What are you doing here now?" "I have found a new circle, the friendship of a lion and a goat." "But aren't there quarrels between them?" "Oh, yes, they have their little quarrels, but then we buy a new goat."

Both Teams Satisfied
With Result of First
World's Series Game

"Easy Game to Lose," States Bill McKeechie, Boss of St. Louis Cardinals; Expects Different Story When Alexander Twirls To-day; Miller Huggins Appears Worn and Tired; Babe Ruth Thinks Yankees Will Take Four Straight; Hoyt Has His Usual Ceremonial Shave Following Victory.

New York, Oct. 5.—For perhaps the first time in the history of a world's series, the champions of the American and National Leagues played a ball game yesterday and both were perfectly satisfied with the way it turned out.

"That was an easy game to lose," Manager Bill McKeechie, of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced as his team trotted into the dressing room, silent, but by no means down-hearted at the 4-1 victory of New York's belting beauties.

"Waite Hoyt pitched a marvelous game. There was nothing we could do about it. He was just in there, and right, and that's all there was to it. Little Lefty Sherdel pitched a great game, too, and his own brand of hurling would have won nine out of ten contests. Hoyt deserved to win. Don't think this series is on the chutes, though," the little fellow who once played ball on the Yank club warned all within hearing. "The Yanks won the first game of the 1925 series, too, but the Cards won the championship. Pete Alexander will be in there to-day and there'll be another story."

TOOK WIN CALM
The American League champions took victory as calmly as though they had been the favorites all along with the pre-series dopesters.

"Looks like the crippled old pretty well," crowed the clouting king of them all, Babe Ruth. "We'll do it some more. Four games is enough for this series."

The Bambino, yanking off his socks in a hurry so as to beat some one to a hot shower, chuckled over the three hits he gathered during the day.

"I was sure due for some," he said. "That first double off Sherdel was a fast ball over the outside corner, the second a nice slow ball inside. I guess that Sherdel is a cousin of mine after all."

HUGGINS TIRED

Miller Huggins, the mighty atom who directs the husky Yanks, seemed more in need of restorative and violent machines than any of the crippled warriors on his staff. Worn and tired, Miller dressed as quickly as he could, and got away from the sight and sound of baseball. He said either George Pipiras or Tom Zachary, the veteran southpaw, would pitch to-day. There was a heartache for Sherdel in the home run Bob Meusel smacked to settle the issue in the fourth inning. The little southpaw was quite disconsolate.

"All day," he said. "I fed Meusel low balls on the outside except just once. My control slipped, and I tossed him a curve that broke high on the outside. You saw what he does to that kind of a ball."

YANKS TROUBLESOME

"These Yanks are a troublesome club. They had me in a hole all the time. I never could get ahead of them and take a chance whaling slow balls to get them biting."

"I suppose I did pitch a good game," said Hoyt as he scrambled for a shower, "but I did better when I shut out the Giants with two hits in the second game of the 1921 series. But did you see that stop and throw Koenig made on Frankie Frisch in the ninth inning, greatest play I ever saw."

HAYT A SHAVE

Once out of the showers, Hoyt lined up his shaving things for the ceremonial that follows every crucial game he pitches. With the rest of the players, he was shaving, he scraped away a thirty-six-hour growth of beard.

"I'm not superstitious," he said half in apology. "My face smarts a little shaving. If I didn't wait until after the game, it would kill my mind off my work."

A SHOCK

The size of the crowd in falling short of record proportions was almost as big a surprise as was the dashing brilliancy plays of the world champions who were supposed to be reeling and groggy, ready to drop at a long count with the first solid punch. The advance ballyoon pictures a jam of some 80,000 based on officially announced figures of 85,295 for the memorable double header between the Yanks and Athletics here nearly a month ago. Even with some vacant space in the corners of the bleachers and upper tier of the grandstand it was figured during the game that close to 75,000 were on hand. The official count of 81,425 therefore was something of a shock to the experts beside falling below world's series record of 83,500 made in the stadium in 1926. It cost considerable cash, in the minds of most of other as to the accuracy of the 85,000 figures.

SHATTERED RECORDS

The gate receipts, however, shattered all previous marks by totaling $224,130 due to the existence of more and higher priced reserved seats. This figure surpassed the mark of $208,065 for a single series game, set in the stadium last year.

World series data follows:
First game—Yankees—4, St. Louis Cardinals—1.
The official attendance, receipts and disposition of money for the first world series game:

Indianapolis Gain Lead in Ball Series

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Indianapolis went on a batting spree against Rochester here yesterday to give a 12 to 5 victory and advance another notch nearer the little world's series baseball championship. Two more wins will give the American Association champions the title.
It was an uphill fight for the locals at the start, for Rochester drove Danny Boone off the mound with a four run rally in the first inning. Dixie Leverett then took up the pitching burden for the Hoosiers and the Red Wings, bats were virtually useless the rest of the day. He allowed but four hits in eight and two-third innings.

HUNTING SEASON
IS GOOD

All Game Reported Fairly Pleasant and Hunters Come Home With Good Bags

Recent Rains Will Improve Deer Hunting; Pheasants Scarce Again This Year

With both birds and deer fairly plentiful hunters are experiencing one of the best seasons in many years, according to reports from veteran Victoria sportsmen who have been on the trails a lot lately.

The weather has been good for bird hunting, while the recent heavy rainfall greatly improved the deer hunting. Blue grouse, which became lawful game on September 15, are more plentiful than for many seasons, and most hunters obtained their bag limit of five birds on the opening day as well as many days after. The best hunting for these birds seems to be in the Shawigan Lake and Jordan River districts and on Salt Spring Island. Blue grouse are now out of season in the Highland district, but remain in season in the other districts until October 31.

WHAT IS IT?

An interesting story on blue grouse shooting is being told by an Up-island hunter. During a recent week-end he shot a grouse which appeared to him to be a blue grouse and within a few days after. Upon examination, however, some of the party declared it to be a willow and advised him to leave it in the woods or perhaps suffer the vengeance of a game warden. An examination of the feathers showed that it was neither blue nor willow, but a cross between the two. An examination of other parts of the bird showed that there was also a mixture of the breed. A naturalist was consulted, but he decided such a thing was impossible. If any more of this kind of birds appear they will likely be fair prey during both seasons of blue and willow.

Willow grouse are closed game on all parts of the Island.

PHEASANTS SCARCE
Pheasants as in past years seem very scarce. This is due mainly to the heavy toll made on them by the horned owls. Pheasants and quail come into season on October 15. This date has met with general dissatisfaction among the hunters who wanted the season to open on a Saturday, as has been the case in previous years. There are lots of quail around this season, and some good bags are expected. Quail and pheasants both go out of season on November 30.

Deer are plentiful, a lot being killed in the Sooke, Shawigan and Highland districts. Deer hunting will be much improved by the rains, as the hunters will be able to tramp the woods without the footing giving them away too soon.

Very little is known about the ducks, as the has not been enough stormy weather to drive them down from up North. They come into season on October 15, and go out on January 31. Generally speaking the hunting season has been fairly good, and hunters are hoping that in the next few years game will become as plentiful as ten or fifteen years ago, when Vancouver Island was one of the most famous hunting grounds in the world.

CARPET BOWLING

Shires, Young First Baseman, Drops Ball, and Chicago White Sox Lose 5-3

Cubs Win in Fourteen Innings and Now Hold a Two Game Lead

Chicago, Oct. 5.—All because of an error, the White Sox lost a ball game yesterday, the Cubs winning the second of the current series for the city baseball league 5 to 3, in fourteen innings of dramatic baseball.

The error that paved the way for the Cubs' ultimate victory came in the fifth inning. The Sox were leading 2 to 1. Tommy Thomas was pitching the first two outs of the inning; Stephenson was on second by reason of a slapping double down the left field foul line and Charley Grimm was at bat. He sent an easy grounder rolling toward Art Shires, White Sox rookie first baseman. Shires picked up the ball, dropped it and before he could recover, the Cubs' first baseman was safe and Stephenson had crossed the plate with the tying run.

THE END

Without warning came the end. It was the fourteenth inning and Kiki Cuyler, the slugging Cubs' right fielder, was at bat. He grounded out, bringing Hack Wilson, the Babe Ruth of the National League to the plate. Hack looked the first two over and then slammed the ball against the right field wall for a triple. Stephenson, however, sent an easy grounder to Hunsfield and Wilson was trapped between third and home. Stephenson racing to second. The White Sox management called on a bit of strategy, which failed. Grimm was passed to get at Hartnett and the Cubs' catcher, who, indignant over the seeming insult, slashed the ball to centre, scoring Stephenson and Grimm. Butler also doubling, scoring Hartnett but his run was only a matter of course.

SOX CAME BACK

The story of how the Sox came back and scored one run on a double by Shires and a single by Kamm was only an aftermath. Clancy was sent in to bat for Clancy as a last hope but he fouled out to Hartnett and the Cubs had a two-game lead in the series. The official attendance was 15,829 and the total receipts $17,513. The players share was $8,457.02; the clubs $6,044.68 and the baseball commission $1,011.30.

Canada Will Be Represented By Two Famous Horses, Sir Harry and Gaffsman

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The Hawthorne Gold Cup, to be decided at the Hawthorne course, October 11, has attracted an entry list of twenty-three crack horses, embracing most of the leading thoroughbreds now in active training in the United States and Canada.

The race is at one mile and a quarter with weight for age, for a purse of $20,000 added, and the gold cup. Heading the list of the Eastern horses is J. E. Widener's great four-year-old, Osmand, which recently won the Havre De Grace $20,000 cup race, holding on just long enough to beat Sun Beau and Crusader, Victorian, from the stable of H. P. Whitney, winner of the Preakness this spring and other Eastern stakes races, also will come out to the East to try for the Hawthorne Cup.

The West will be represented by Missip, Chicago, Mike Hall and others. Missip finished second to Reigh Count in the Kentucky Derby, and later won the Fairmont Derby.

OTHER STARS

Other stars from Eastern stables included W. R. Coe's Centaur; Strolling Player, the imported crack horse owned by Dr. Cary Grayson; two Man o' War colts, Crusader and Ironside II; Sun Beau, the big bay colt owned by W. S. Kilmer and Disraeli, W. J. Salmon's star five-year-old campaigner.

Former Senator J. N. Campden's Hydromel, which has been running with success in Maryland, will be brought back West for this event. Other Western horses include Handy Mandy, Lawley, and the two stars of Stuyvesant Flat body stable, Martie Flynn and Flat Iron.

CANADA REPRESENTED

Canada will be represented in the race by J. E. Seagram's Sir Harry and Gaffsman.

PIRATES PRACTICE

The Pirates' senior rugby team will hold a field practice at the Willows Grounds to-morrow at 3:30 p.m. All last year's players and others who are representing the team this year are requested to make an effort to attend, so that the management can get a line on the players before the league games start.

Westies Will Take on Saanich Thistles; Full Programme of Junior Matches

Keen competition is looked for to-morrow afternoon in the First Division soccer games. Victoria Westies and Victoria City, joint leaders of the league, each with two victories to their credit, should meet stiff opposition, and a change in the leadership may result.

Equimatt, who are fielding a young team this year, are expected to improve as the season progresses.

Three games will be played to-morrow afternoon in the Junior Football League. The matches will start at 3 o'clock.

The draw is as follows:

Los Angeles, Oct. 5.—Both the remaining Frenchmen, Henri Cochet and Christian Boussus, won their matches in the men's singles division of the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament here yesterday. Cochet won over Sidney Wood, a seventeen-year-old player of New York and Pasadena, California, 7-3, 6-2, while Boussus defeated Ellsworth Vines, also of Pasadena, 6-4, 6-3.

Cochet played a doubles match, pairing with Johnny Doe of Santa Monica, California, to defeat Vines and Keith Goddard of Santa Barbara, 6-2, 6-1, and going to the semi-final round.

If the Senators win the second half the teams will battle for the bonus on a 60-40 percentage basis.

The Seals made a whirlwind finish yesterday to give Los Angeles a 10-2 drubbing and finish the 1928 schedule in a tie with Sacramento. The last game of the season was Ruelter Day, and the veteran southpaw obliged by holding the Angels in check for the seven innings he pitched. ### Bob Granger May Be Instructor At New High School

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—If Bob Granger, trainer of Percy Williams, can meet the requirements of the Department of Education, it is likely that he will be offered the appointment of physical instructor at the new technical high school. The gymnasium at the school will be ready by the first of the year and Principal J. G. Lister has drawn the attention of the trustees to the necessity of appointing a physical instructor.

LEO DIEGEL PROVIDES BIG UPSET

Canadian Open Champ Beats
Walter Hagen 2 and 1 in Pro Golf Tourney

Four-year Reign of "Haig"
Ends; Sarazen, Espinosa
and Smith Also Win

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—The miracle happened. The jinx is broken. Walter Hagen was beaten by Leo Diegel yesterday in the quarter-finals of the U.S. professional golf title tournament, and his four-year reign as champion is at an end. The score was two up and one to play.

For the first time since 1923, when Gene Sarazen nosed him out in the final by one up in thirty-eight holes, Walter met a man who could match him in competitive spirit and skill in this big pro fixture over which Hagen has exercised rule for so long. Diegel fairly won his victory and a chance at the championship by fighting off one of Hagen's famous rallies and holing out a fourteen-foot putt for a birdie two on the thirty-first green.

It was up to the "Haig" then to do the same if he was to save his crown, and he missed by about three inches. The downfall of Hagen, around whom a tradition of invincibility had been woven because of the regularity with which he won his title, totally collapsed in the eyes of the big gallery—the other three quarter-final matches in which Gene Sarazen, Al Espinosa and Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., emerged victorious.

SARAZEN WON EASILY
Sarazen, who is to battle Diegel in today's play, won by the convincing margin of seven and six over Fred Dudley, long-driving young husky from Los Angeles.

Espinosa's margin was five and four over Jack Hutchinson, veteran ex-champion, while Smith, a newcomer to national golfing fame, downed Perry Del Vecchio of Greensburg, Pa., another newcomer, by a margin of six and two.

GENE SHOOT'S BEST
The best golf of the day was shot by Sarazen, who scored just two over par in the thirty holes he played. Finishing the morning round one up, Gene halved the first three holes in the afternoon, then knocked off six holes in a row, clinching the match with halves at the next three.

DRAW ANNOUNCED FOR LADIES' MEDAL PLAY AT UPLANDS CLUB

O.C. LEADERS WILL BATTLE

Top Teams in First Division.
Soccer Meet in Severe
Tests To-morrow

London, Oct. 5.—To-morrow's fixtures in the First Division of the English League will bring together several of the soccer teams who figure in the top half of the averages. The feature game will be that between Birmingham and Derby County at the former city. Another fine attraction will be Huddersfield Town and Blackburn Rovers on the grounds of the Yorkshire club.

CHAMPIONS SHOULD WIN
Everton will entertain Arsenal, who have not been going very well this season, and it looks as if the league champions should pick up a couple of points.

Burnley, at present heading the averages, will have Manchester United foes, and they should not lose their place. Chelsea must travel to West Bromwich Albion, while Hull City visits Tottenham Hotspurs.

SEVERE TESTS
In the Scottish First Division, Aberdeen, who have come up to the top of the heap, will find their pre-eminence seriously challenged. The must go to Motherwell, where a warm reception awaits them.

A prize has also been offered for the lowest net score in the final rounds.

CABIN CRUISER IS DESTROYED BY BIG GALE

Lady Mary, Owned By Col.
J. A. Phillips, Total Loss

Washed Up on Beach and Then Pounded By Large
Log Raft

The sixty-five-mile gale which swept Victoria on Wednesday evening, leaving much minor damage in its path, completely wrecked the thirty-five-foot cabin cruiser Lady Mary, which had Cadoro Bay at the Royal Yacht Club moorings. The owner of the craft, Colonel J. A. Phillips, and officials of the yacht club believe the vessel is a total loss.

Sweeping around Cadoro Point with its greatest velocity, the gale struck the cruiser, loosened it from its moorings and drove it up on the beach, where it rested on the sandy bottom.
No damage would have been done had not a large log raft, which was in the middle of the bay and used all summer
by swimmers, also broken loose.
Washed ashore by the big waves, the raft rammed and pounded the sides of the Lady Mary until she was badly battered. Luxurious furnishings on the yacht were drenched with sea water and are absolutely beyond salvage.

IS BADLY WRECKED

The beautiful craft, with her trim lines and smart appearance, was today a sad sight as she rested on the beach. Residents of the bay have been swarming around her, examining the wreckage and taking small pieces as souvenirs.

Further along the beach the cruiser
Undine was also washed ashore in the Wednesday night gale. The Undine came to rest on the sand and no considerable damage was done, although she is firmly stuck. A survey of the condition of the boat was made this morning and she will be floated as soon as possible.

Crisp, crunchy Pep! What a wonderful treat for the youngsters! Nourishing, whole wheat, with all the vitamins and healthful mineral elements of nature's most favored food grain. Pep makes keen bodies—and keen minds.

Pep contains bran, too. Enough to be mildly laxative. Tends to prevent constipation. Just the food to keep kiddies regular. Keeps them strong and vigorous.

Serve Pep often. Give Pep to the whole family. With milk or cream. For breakfast, lunch or dinner. Add fresh or canned fruits or honey for delicious variety. Comes ready to eat. Your grocer has Pep.

VIVISECTION SOCIETY MEETS

Vaccination and Use of Serums Discussed By Local Organization

The use of serums and other forms of preventive medicine were discussed at a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Anti-vivisection Society last night.

Addressed by E. S. Woodward spoke on vaccination, holding that the use of serums would be justified if they had been proved effectual. Such had not been the case he contended.

Mrs. A. Wicks, dealing with cancer, told of the 100 years' search for its cause and cure. She referred to the opinion of some surgeons who inclined to the belief that vaccination might be the cause of cancer.

HEAD HUNTERS' PRACTICE

G. B. Kitto likened vaccination to the former practice of North Borneo head hunters who made use of blowpipes and poisoned darts steeped in the blood of decaying animals.

Mrs. S. Green spoke on diphtheria, and the use of toxoid. The story of St. Francis and his love for animals was feelingly told by Miss A. T. Riddell.

Mrs. A. Roseboom gave a recitation.

able. New and improved methods insure a larger return in gasoline from natural gas. Cracking, which enables low grade crudes to be used for gasoline manufacture, has developed to such a point of efficiency that now thirty-five per cent of all crude oil becomes gasoline. This cracking process, now so widely adopted, has become one of the guarantees of an adequate future supply of motor fuel.

The election of officers replaced Mr. Piggett as president, and your Mr. H. R. McMillan and myself figure among the new directors.

SEATTLE IN 1930

"Oakland put in a strong bid for the next convention, but lost out to Seattle, on the grounds that the National Conference is to be held in Los Angeles in 1930, in which year the Pacific Council will not hold a meeting, and it was necessary to give the North a conference between two held in the South. I think there was also a sentimental reason on account of the age of the president and as a token of respect to him.

"Mexico and Hawaii are in the field for convention honors, but they are too far away to sugar success, and it seems to me that for practical success a mid-way city between North and South should be chosen yearly.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

"Since my return I have analyzed the attendances, and the results are as follows:

Southern California ..... 306

San Francisco to Portland ..... 46

Seattle and near-by cities ..... 18

Canada ..... 3

Other ..... 21

Total ..... 394

Out of the total attendance, 278 registered for Los Angeles.

These figures speak for themselves, and one cannot help but wonder how many were deterred by want of time on account of the expense, etc., from obtaining the benefit of the meeting, and how many of the 278 Los Angeles registrations represented persons actually interested in the object of the council.

Next year we shall see a complete reversal of these figures, the North predominating and the South only noticeable on account of a slim attendance.

"I am afraid that this is a very rambling talk, but I have yet to receive copies of the various speeches, and one's memory can only carry so much and so more. Incidentally I have ordered a set of the speeches for your files and hope to send you them in the course of a week or so.

ENTERTAINMENT

The accompanying ladies, of whom there were very few, were well entertained and looked after, but there was very little 'en bloc' entertainment for the men visitors. A banquet at which Judge Macdonald spoke was the main entertainment, and there was also breakfast at the Breakfast Club some twenty-six miles out. This necessitated a very early start, and I missed it by oversleeping the appointed time.

"There were quite a number of prominent people there, such as His Excellency Mahmoud Samy Pasha, Egyptian Minister, Plenipotentiary to the United States, Dr. P. Demuth, Attorney of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Berlin, and member National Economic Council of Germany; Hon. M. A. Macdonald, Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia; Maj.-Gen. Lansing H. Beach, U.S.A., retired, former Chief of Engineers United States Army; Commander W. C. Westman, United States Coast Guard Service, Capt. Robert Doller, San Francisco and "Around the World," Hon. Beldomero A. Almada, Commercial Attache of the Mexican Embassy, Capt. S. Steele Sandberg, Commissioner, United States Shipping Board, and A. R. Lintner, District Manager, United States Shipping Board, Seattle.

"The United States Department of State put in quite a strong representation gathered from Antofagasta, Chile; Guaymas, Mexico; Esmeralda, Mexico; and Auckland, New Zealand.

The United States Department of Commerce also sent their representatives from Vancouver, Shanghai, Barcelona, Spain, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Washington, D.C.

IMPRESSIONS
"Before closing I would like to add that this was my first trip South of the State of Washington, although I have lived in British Columbia for thirty-six years. I was astonished at what has been accomplished down there in spite of physical disabilities—those sandy wastes now produce San Pedro Harbor, the permanency of their highways. Here in British Columbia nature has endowed us with all the physical benefits which our Southern friends have had to create—unlimited water power—good rainfall—deep water harbors—and untold natural resources. I returned with a greater perception and realization of the tremendous possibilities of British Columbia and an added faith in the future of this wonderful Province."

PRICELESS

LEAVE YOUR PLATE IN MILTON WHILE YOU SLEEP OR WHILE YOU DRESS

You can't clean false teeth as a woman cleans a floor—by scrubbing and brushing. It's crude, costly and ineffective. Much better let Milton make a perfect job of them while you're sleeping or dressing. Either way they're cleaned as nothing else can clean them. No harm to the denture and every germ killed—ask your dentist. Both these methods are explained in the little book you'll find with the bottle.

Sold by your dealer—35c, 65c, and $1 a bottle.

WEST AFRICAN OFFICIAL HERE

H. B. Waters of Nigerian Agricultural Department Visits Experimental Farm

The work of a number of Canadians and British Columbia engineers in Nigeria and the Gold Coast was outlined by H. B. Waters of the Nigerian Department of Agriculture, who arrived in this city yesterday. Mr. Waters attended the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and after comparing the similar methods used by the Nigerian and Canadian experimental farms, decided to cross the Continent to see how effective the system was here. With this end in view he visited the Experimental Farm at Sidney yesterday.

He spoke of conditions in West Africa, particularly those at Takoradi Harbor, where engineers from this Province had built important docks which were opened last April. As a result of this construction, ships can unload directly upon the wharves instead of having to be hoisted by lighters. The Nigerian coast is well supplied with harbors and has an excellent railway system directed by a Canadian, he stated.

DRIVER IS FINED AFTER ACCIDENT

Chinaman Injured When Car Skids Into Ditch on Gorge Road

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving to the common danger, Charles C. Johnston of 853 Queen's Avenue was fined $20 in the Saanich Police Court this morning.

The charge against Johnston followed an accident on the Gorge Road yesterday afternoon in which Lee Houk, a Chinaman, was badly bruised about the head and chest. Lee was rushed to the Jubilee Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. A. C. Sinclair. His injuries are not very serious, it was stated this morning, although he will be in hospital for some time.

CHINAMAN THROWN OUT

E. Wilkinson, driver of the Gorge bus, told the court he had seen the car driven by Johnston skidding down the hill as he followed it. The car had finally come to rest in the ditch and the Chinaman was thrown out. He judged the speed of the car at about thirty-five miles per hour.

Constable Cummings, who arrested Johnston, also gave evidence.

IN TO THE DITCH

Johnston explained to the court he had been forced to put on his brakes when cars coming up the hill tried to pass each other. His car started to skid as he stepped on the accelerator to check the skid, but was finally forced to take to the ditch.

Johnston, who was employed as chauffeur for a resident of Cremona, was returning up-island with the Chinaman, whom he had driven to the city to visit a dentist, when the accident happened.

FRAUD CHARGE IS DISMISSED

James Hillson Given Benefit of Doubt By Magistrate George Jay

James Hillson was given the benefit of the doubt by Magistrate George Jay this morning.

Dismissing the charge against Hillson of obtaining money by false pretences, the magistrate declared he had never experienced a case in which there was such a large amount of evidence.

T. L. Finlayson, the chief prosecution witness, had stated, said his Honor, that the cheque, which started the prosecution, was given by him under the dictation of Hillson. The accused had denied this.

Finlayson had stated Hillson took the full sum of the money obtained and had left him. But Hillson had declared the other had obtained all the money, having asked him (Hillson) to cash it for him.

It came down to a question of whether to believe Finlayson or Hillson, his Honor said. Finlayson was a man of good character and had never been charged by police during his long residence in the city. He must give the accused the benefit of the doubt, said the magistrate, discharging the case.

As a piece of advice, the magistrate warned Hillson not to be so glib in cashing cheques for other people.

"I'll never handle another one," returned Hillson.

Hillson was alleged to have cashed a cheque at D. Spencer Limited, knowing the cheque to be a bad one. He claimed he had been asked by Finlayson to cash the cheque.

Industry Bonusing Called Disastrous In Nebraska City

In connection with a survey which is being made by the Chamber of Commerce regarding bonusing of industries in various cities of this continent, a communication has been received from the Lincoln, Neb. Chamber of Commerce in which city bonusing is said to have met with disastrous results.

Over a period of fifty-four years, it was pointed out in the communication, something like $2,000,000 has been lost in bonusing industries of various kinds in Lincoln.

The number of plants which keep operating in the city under this plan is a very small percentage of the whole, it was pointed out.

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES WOODBINE

Affairs of the Woodbine Gold Mining Company have been under consideration of Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, according to an announcement.

Hon. Mr. McKenzie states that during the last few days a committee representing the directorate of the company has placed much information before the Department of Mines. This information has been passed on to the Attorney-General's department for analysis.

It is stated in Hon. Mr. McKenzie's announcement that the directorate has decided on the future policy of the company to be announced shortly. It is stated that the reports laid before the department are conflicting. The minister listened to the evidence submitted to him, and was particularly interested.

In the annual report of the Mines Department issued June 11 last, the situation of the Woodbine property, as seen by the department engineer on the ground, is fully covered. After citing the results of the sampling of ores from the property, the engineer said that while the values were low, they were what might be expected from the appearances, though good enough to warrant exploration of the very large mineralized zone available. He added that there was a possibility of higher grade ore shoots would be found.

Lights Play Game Of Hide and Seek Around Langford

Homes at Langford, Langford Lake and Colwood were in darkness for three hours last night when the fuse at the Langford-Colwood crossing blew out twice.

At 9 o'clock residents in these districts were surprised when all electric lights went out and darkness prevailed for two hours. When a Victoria fire replaced the fuse at the crossing, for half an hour the districts enjoyed the electric facilities in their houses. At 8.30 o'clock a train passed over the crossed and the fuse blew out again. The lights were resumed once more at 9.30 o'clock.

CHAMBER AIDS MEMORIAL AVE.

Directors Vote to Make Final Payment For Completion of Project

Further supporting the growth of Memorial Avenue, the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day voted to make a final contribution toward the completion of the avenue.

General R. P. Clark of Vancouver in a short memorandum told the board that the Victoria-Saanich Parks and Beaches Committee would vote $1,000 for the purpose of carrying on the work if the chamber would vote $500.

MUST FINISH IT

"That the completion of this splendid project should be allowed to drift is unthinkable," said General Clark's memorandum. The very gratifying, if somewhat retarded, progress towards completing the avenue and the resultant beautification of the contiguous district, is a matter of sincere congratulation.

The board decided to inform the Parks and Beaches Committee that although the Chamber of Commerce was not the body to provide funds for the maintenance of the avenue, at the same time, being deeply in sympathy with the project, they were prepared to make a final payment towards its completion.

SAANICH BENEFIT

Reeve William Crouch pointed out that Saanich could not be expected to bear the whole upkeep of the avenue. It was not Saanich's idea in the first place, he declared.

General Clark replied that Saanich had three miles of the avenue in the municipality and it was to their benefit.

PRESENTATION TO H. N. FYNN

Directors Show Esteem For Chamber Secretary, Who Is to Leave

In recognition of the loyalty which he has shown to the Chamber of Commerce and the esteem in which he is held by the directorate, H. Norman Fynn, assistant secretary of the Chamber, who will leave this month for Vancouver, was to-day presented with a handsome silver cigarette case by the directors of the organization.

On behalf of the board, J. H. Beatty made the presentation to Mr. Fynn.

"I am sure the directors of this chamber are sorry to see you leave," said Mr. Beatty. "I want you to feel you have the best wishes of the chamber and wish you to accept this small token of our esteem and in recognition of the loyalty you have shown in your many years of association with the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade."

In reply, Mr. Fynn expressed his greatest appreciation of the gift. It would serve as an encouragement and incentive in his new work, he said.

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES WOODBINE

Affairs of the Woodbine Gold Mining Company have been under consideration of Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, according to an announcement.

Hon. Mr. McKenzie states that during the last few days a committee representing the directorate of the company has placed much information before the Department of Mines. This information has been passed on to the Attorney-General's department for analysis.

It is stated in Hon. Mr. McKenzie's announcement that the directorate has decided on the future policy of the company to be announced shortly. It is stated that the reports laid before the department are conflicting. The minister listened to the evidence submitted to him, and was particularly interested.

In the annual report of the Mines Department issued June 11 last, the situation of the Woodbine property, as seen by the department engineer on the ground, is fully covered. After citing the results of the sampling of ores from the property, the engineer said that while the values were low, they were what might be expected from the appearances, though good enough to warrant exploration of the very large mineralized zone available. He added that there was a possibility of higher grade ore shoots would be found.

Lights Play Game Of Hide and Seek Around Langford

Homes at Langford, Langford Lake and Colwood were in darkness for three hours last night when the fuse at the Langford-Colwood crossing blew out twice.

At 9 o'clock residents in these districts were surprised when all electric lights went out and darkness prevailed for two hours. When a Victoria fire replaced the fuse at the crossing, for half an hour the districts enjoyed the electric facilities in their houses. At 8.30 o'clock a train passed over the crossed and the fuse blew out again. The lights were resumed once more at 9.30 o'clock.

VICTORIA FAIR GREAT SUCCESS

Sum of $19,163 Distributed in Prize Money to Record Entry List

W. H. Mearns Reappointed Managing Secretary For 1929; Surplus $8,362

The Provincial Exhibition held at the Victoria grounds under the auspices of the British Columbia Agricultural Association in August last, was the most successful fair in the history of the organization, W. H. Mearns, managing secretary, reported to a meeting of the directors held this week.

By year the week of the fair, entry lists made the fair one of the most successful in the Province, it was reported.

Showing the growth of the exhibition, the sum of $19,163 was distributed in prize money this year, compared with $16,303 a year ago. After meeting all expenses the Association had a surplus of $8,362 on its books at the end of September.

Livestock and other entries were brought from many points in British Columbia, and were present in greater numbers than ever before, reports the secretary.

WANT BETTER EQUIPMENT

"The Victoria fair can be made the greatest exhibition in the Province, if we can secure the proper equipment. Year by year the fair is receiving greater recognition, and this year we had the best fair in the history of the association," stated Mr. Mearns, who was reappointed managing secretary for the ensuing year.

NEW LAW FIRMS ARE ANNOUNCED

A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., and H. C. V. Macdowall Combine Practices

N. W. Spinks and R. W. Hartley Enter New Legal Partnership

A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., and H. C. V. Macdowall announce the formation of a new legal firm under the name of Macfarlane and Macdowall.

Mr. Macfarlane, who has been practicing in Victoria for the last seventeen years, is a graduate of the University of Toronto, 1907.

Mr. Macdowall, a son of the late D. H. Macdowall, is a graduate of Royal Military College, and was articled to the late E. V. Bodwell, Esq., in 1912. He went overseas with the First Canadian Division in 1914 and won a captaincy in the Seventh Battalion, First Canadian Division. He was taken prisoner and later invalided to England in 1918. Soon after his return to Victoria he was called to bar in 1921.

Mr. Macdowall remained with the firm of Bodwell and Lawson until 1925, and later became identified with the practice of Mr. Macfarlane, which he now joins as a partner.

FORM PARTNERSHIP

Another law firm announced this week is that of Spinks and Hartley. Nugent W. Spinks, who has been in practice here for the last twenty years, has been joined by R. Wilfrid Hartley, who was formerly connected with the office of the Provincial Surveyor of Taxes. Both young men are well known in Victoria, having received their education in the local public and high schools. Mr. Spinks and Mr. Hartley took a leading part in the Men's Debating Society and the High School.

Mr. Spinks studied law with Alexis Martin of this city, with whom he was associated for some time after being called to the bar, later entering practice for himself. While a student Mr. Spinks took an active part in the Law Students' Society of the city, filling the office of secretary for three years.

After serving with the Royal Air Force, Mr. Hartley took his degree as bachelor of laws at McGill University. On his return to Victoria he studied with the firm of Jackson and Baughman, and later with A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., with whom he was associated for some time after receiving his call to the bar.

The new firm will continue a general legal practice at room 331, Pemberton Building.

OBITUARY

The remains of the late Henry Russell, who passed away very suddenly in this city Wednesday afternoon, were forwarded by the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, on last night's boat to Vancouver en route to Montreal, where funeral service and interment will take place. Mrs. Russell accompanied the remains East.

Funeral service will be held at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street.

INTERIOR POWER WAR HITS TRAIL

Big Ore Shipments From Allenby Mines Go to Tacoma

In its power rate dispute with the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has transferred the greater portion of the Allenby mines from Trail to the Tacoma smelter, according to information received at the Parliament Buildings.

The West Kootenay Company recently announced that supply of power to the Allenby mines of the Granby Company would continue so long as Allenby ore was smelted at the Trail plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, which is closely identified with the power concern.

INJUNCTION BARS CESSATION

Immediate cessation of power service to the Allenby district is prevented by an injunction order of the Court of Appeal, but great anxiety is prevalent in the southern interior, the Government has been informed.

LONG BATTLE FEARED

The Granby Company is dissatisfied not only with smelting charges at Trail, but also with the cost of power necessary in its operations.

The matter is before the Government here now in the form of an appeal from Grand Forks City Council, customer of the power company, for the intervention of the Cabinet to straighten out the dispute.

ASPIRIN

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try an Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assure the public against imitations, the Tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trademark.

FACTIONS WAR OVER CHURCH

Police Serve Writ of Possession on Lowell, Mass., Property

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 5.—Holy Trinity Greek Church, its interior resembling a fort more than a place of worship, yesterday passed out of the control of a faction which has been holding it by force of actual occupancy for several months, but not until the police battered down the door. This accomplished, the officers met with no resistance and served on the defenders a writ of possession granted by the courts to the opposing faction. The struggle between the two factions for control of the church property started early in the summer. A Rodostolou of the Greek Orthodox Church, took forcible possession of the church and locked the doors.

When Noah sailed the waters blue He had his troubles, same as you. For forty days he drove the Ark Before he found a place to park.

No Taste but Delicious Mint!

Though it is really the most effective of laxatives, "Feen-a-mint" not only looks but also tastes like a delightful gum confection—refreshing, sugar-coated, fresh-mint flavored.

There is no taste at all of the safe, sure, non-habit-forming laxative agent, "phenolphthalein (yellow)." But it is there—and chewing assures its thorough mixing with the saliva. Hence the mild but complete laxative action of "Feen-a-mint."

Everybody likes "Feen-a-mint," all good druggists sell it and physicians recommend it. Try it yourself tonight or at any hour of the day when you suffer from intestinal irregularity.

ELLIOTT HEADS CONSERVATIVES OF CITY AGAIN

Fight Against Slate Presented By Joe North Quickly Quashed

Members of Fixed Ticket Endorsed at Annual Meeting Last Night

Few Jobs Open Yet But Hinchliffe Says "Plums" Will Go to Conservatives

Despite protests against machine methods designed to elect a fixed slate of officers, the annual meeting of the Victoria Conservative Association last night chose these officers at a crowded meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

Alderman Lytton A. Mara led a brief but brisk fight against the action of those in charge in allowing Joseph North, an independent candidate in the last provincial election, to stand at the door handing out cards which asked support for a slate of officers headed by F. C. Elliott. Mr. Elliott, who was presiding, said he had no authority to interfere and did not propose to do so. Mr. Mara pointed out that the ticket, as outlined in Mr. North's cards, was headed by Mr. Elliott. Applause greeted Mr. Elliott when he retired.

"Mr. Mara, are you so insistent on your objection that you are prepared to create a disturbance? I do not propose to answer!" Mr. Elliott ignored constant interruptions by a questioner who demanded: "Is the Liberal candidate in the last election allowed admittance to this hall?"

ELLIOTT RE-ELECTED

In the end the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. C. Elliott, who defeated W. C. Moresby, K.C.; first vice-president, R. A. Wootton; second vice-president, A. I. Kirkpatrick; treasurer, E. W. Maynard; secretary, William Duck; members of the Provincial Association, Major A. Lyons, R. A. Wootton, Leonard Tait and Mrs. P. Webster.

The slate advocated in the North tickets was as follows: President, F. C. Elliott; first vice, R. A. Wootton; second vice, A. I. Kirkpatrick; treasurer, E. W. Maynard; secretary, W. Duck; Provincial Association, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Fairweather.

FEW JOBS OPEN

This election followed an evening of speech-making by candidates for office in the association and by Victoria members of the Legislature. Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, and Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., warned Conservatives that there would be few Government jobs open in the near future. Mr. Hinchliffe added, however, that when "plums" were available they would naturally go to Conservatives.

At the opening Mr. Elliott read a letter from Premier Tominie, who regretted that he could not attend the meeting owing to being suddenly called to Vancouver. The Premier urged the election of men of high calibre.

MANY NOMINATIONS

Nominations before the meeting were as follows: For president, F. C. Elliott and W. C. Moresby, K.C.

For first vice-president: Mrs. Isabella Mowat, C. L. Roberts and R. A. Wootton. For second vice-president, A. I. Kirk and A. I. Kirkpatrick.

For treasurer, E. W. Maynard, E. M. McConnan and Mrs. Mary J. Roberts. For secretary, William Duck and Q. D. H. Warden.

For members of the British Columbia Conservative Association, Leonard Tait, R. A. Wootton, Capt. Fairweather, Wm. Barrowclough, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Fairweather, Mrs. Beaumont Boggs, Major A. Lyons.

Chairman Plunkett was asked to send a ballot box to the rear of the hall to permit ladies who were overcome by the heat to vote and depart. This was curiously refused, but distressed persons were invited to use large ballot boxes on the platform as they could be viewed as they voted.

Speeches by the candidates were extremely brief. Mr. Elliott, as candidate for re-election as president, repaid to the recent successful campaign as proof of his ability. Mr. Moresby paid tribute to Mr. Elliott's services and said his long Conservative career had caused him to many requests to stand.

Mrs. Isabella Mowat, candidate for vice president, urged the claims of women to representation on the executive of the Association. C. L. Roberts and R. A. Wootton were equally brief, the latter referring to his service as second vice president as qualification for the senior post.

As candidate for the treasuryship, E. W. Maynard stated that the Association owed nothing and has a good bank balance, due to a policy of drastic economy maintained by him during the last year. Re-election would mark approval of his action. E. M. McConnan, former treasurer, spoke briefly, and Mrs. Mary J. Roberts urged the wisdom of entrusting women with office.

William Duck, secretary, told of campaign management experiences, declaring he had freely devoted his time to the Conservative Association for eight years and appealed for re-election.

Q. D. H. Warden also appealed for election as secretary, pledging efficiency if he were chosen and no hard feeling if he were outvoted.

As nominees to the Provincial Association the speakers were Leonard Tait, W. Barrowclough, C. A. Wootton, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Fairweather, Mrs. B. Boggs, Major A. Lyons and Capt. Fairweather.

Hunt's orchestra and Bruce Hamilton, vocalist, rendered selections during the evening. C. Hunt was accompanied.

WANTS STRONG NOMINEE

During the counting of the ballots Lindsey Crease, K.C., appealed for selection of a strong candidate to carry the Conservative banner in the impending Federal by-election to fill the Victoria seat vacated by Premier Tominie.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—A powerful market sprang to life again Friday forenoon on the floor of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, when most of the leading mining issues rushed into the stride that has brought 500,000 share days back to the local traders.

Ruth Hope was the outstanding leader, opening at 65 and selling strongly up to 72 without a recession. Snowflake was down to 86 at the opening, but crept up around 90, and Grandview held a prevailing price of between 84 and 85 all morning.

Rufus-Argenta began to give a better account of itself, Rufus traded heavily around 27 1/2 and 28, and was strongly held at those figures.

Kootenay-Florence held at 18. Morten-Woolsey sold around 8 and Mohawk at about the same figure.

Terminus, on optimistic reports, sold well around 30, and Kootenay-King was in good demand around 44 to 45. Glacord brought 4 1/2 and 5, and Big Missouri was sold at 56 to 57 1/2.

Important news is not expected for at least two weeks on this latter market leader.

The Oils were almost neglected, although Home brought 2 1/2 and Devonish 53. The market as a whole was one of the best since early in the year.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

(By Solloway, Mills—R. F. Castle)

Toronto, Oct. 5.—Trading during the first two hours of the session today was soft. Few of the recent popular specialties gave an evidence of strength. After the noon hour, however, the market improved in some of the more active issues.

Many traders called Abana to react to 4.00. However, strong buying appeared and moved the price up to 4.70, closing firm at 4.60-5.

Noranda sold down to 45.50 during the session, but rallied to 47.50 on a few sales, closing at 47.25-40.

On important news from the north, Malartic moved up 4 points, closing at 156-7.

Granada at 24 to 25 was off 2 points. On a rumor that an official statement will be issued by the Jackson Manion management, this stock had a snappy move up to 99, easing off to close at 91 1/2.

Laval Quebec at 1 1/2 was down on a report that operations have been suspended on their Sudbury property.

Newbec at 42 to 43 was again the largest trader on the board, selling down to 54 but rallying to 62-63 when the going soured.

At a meeting of Potter Gold directors today, it was decided to suspend operations on the property. This was reflected in the stock, which closed very weak at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4.

Tough Oakes showed a 4 1/2 point gain on the news from Kirkland Lake that at the 1,875-foot level ore had been encountered running 119 to the ton.

Teck Hughes at 8.55-50 was off 20 points in spite of the fact that the directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 18 1/2 a share.

San Antonio at 27-29, Mandy at 175, Wright Hargreaves at 267-70 and Sherritt Gordon at 625-30 were indifferent traders and showed losses for the day.

A Thrilling Story of Fate and the Famous Sweepstake

By E. C. BULEY

It was no easy matter, but Franklin managed it. Back in his place again, he watched his companion refresh himself from a big flask, and flog himself to restore the circulation in his cramped limbs.

"Where are we?" Grant asked presently.

Allen Franklin shook his head, but pointed to the rising sun for which he was heading.

"Shall I take my trick now?" Buddy wanted to know.

"Not yet. If we sight anything, we can change places again; and I'll need another wireless. I reckon we've covered 2,500 miles."

A few hours later they decided to change places. They had left the breeze behind them, and entered a zone of low clouds and poor visibility.

Franklin partook of food and drink for the first time on the journey, and felt all the better for it. Nothing was in sight on the surface of the ocean, but visibility was enormously reduced by the clouds.

As the day wore on, the light got no better, and when it was about mid-day, at Franklin's watch told him—making allowance for their eastward progress—he began to get anxious.

"We've either missed Ireland, or we're off to be seeing it pretty soon," he called.

"We're petrol to run for three hours," Buddy said. "Ought to be enough."

Three hours after they were still travelling unchecked, over an ocean apparently as empty of land as of vessels.

Buddy Grant, who had been from time to time, supplying Franklin with estimates of the petrol still remaining for their flight, had ominously ceased to do so.

Franklin knew what that meant; it was no longer a matter of hours, but of minutes, before they must leave the air, and take their chance upon the surface of the sea.

Suddenly he cried aloud, pointing to the northeast, where a smudge of some darker shade diversified the monotonous greyness of sky and sea.

Promptly the pilot changed their course, heading in the direction Franklin indicated with his outstretched arm.

"Island?" Buddy suggested. "Where in tophet are we?"

"Too far north, I expect," Franklin hazarded. "Can we make it?"

"Just about," Buddy replied, shutting off the engine and planning down-wards.

Rapidly the plane came into clearer view, an island with rugged hills and an indented coast line. A little sheltered bay served as harbor; presently they could see a small pier and squat grey buildings.

"We'll hit the water and taxi into that bay," Buddy decided, starting the engine again.

He carried out his programme with remarkable coolness and audacity; and as they reached the haven of smooth water, they had the ineffable satisfaction of seeing a fishing boat coming out from the pier to meet them, propelled by motor power.

"The luck holds," Buddy exclaimed. "We can get some juice here, as well as our bearings; and we'll make it yet."

Franklin glanced at the watch on his wrist, and shook his head with a scowl.

"By my reckoning, the horses are at the post now," he said. "There's no hurry now. Let me do the talking, Buddy. These people will not even have heard of us, I expect. There is no reason why they should be told any more than is good for them to know."

"Suit yourself, Frank," Buddy said. "What language will they speak?"

"Scots," Franklin answered shortly, and then raised his voice in a bellow to the approaching boat.

"We've lost our bearings, and run out of petrol," he shouted. "What place is this?"

The answer brought a sour grin to his face.

"What did they say?" Buddy asked. "St. Kilda," Franklin answered. "No telegraphs and a post once a month or so, if the weather is fine. When it is rough, they get near starving, some of them."

"You see, we're run out of petrol. Can you tow us in a bit, and can we buy some petrol?"

The fishermen drew close, and one of them asked the natural question. "St. Kilda, from America?" Franklin said simply. "We got too far north, as you see; and we're run out of petrol. Can you tow us in a bit, and can we buy some petrol?"

The fishermen did better than that; they supplied a drum of petrol on the spot; and when Buddy had steered the plane to moorings, they took the two adventurers off, and landed them safe upon the little pier.

"I'm hungry and thirsty, and sleepy," Franklin declared. "What about yourself?"

"I'm all those things, and cold as well," Buddy said. "When do we go from here, Frank?"

"To-morrow morning, and not at daybreak either," Franklin said. "Let's see what this place offers in the way of food and beds."

Presently they were seated before a blazing fire; and Buddy Grant was making his acquaintance with the seductive compound of honey and whiskey known as Athol brose. Fresh fish were cooking, and there was a heavenly smell of scones and bannocks cakes. A mutton ham, just freshly cut, made its appearance on the coarse but clean white cloth. It was then that Franklin made a confession to his companion.

"When you went to sleep last night, I wasn't sure you would ever waken again, Buddy," he said. "How do you feel now?"

"Good," Buddy declared, though his appearance belied his words. "When I've eaten, and inhaled about a pint of this firewater, I'll be ready for a proper sleep. Being nursed into insensibility isn't just the same thing, Frank."

"By the way," Franklin said. "In case anybody asks you, we've flown the Atlantic. Buddy, how do you feel now?"

"But we never got to see that horse race, Buddy," he objected, mournfully. "What was the good, anyhow?"

"When we got to London, I'll show you, Buddy," Franklin promised contentedly. "That's why I'm stopping off here for the night, and a ten-hour sleep. I want to have my punch along with me, when I introduce you to a couple of old friends of mine."

"Suit me," Buddy said. "Count me in, Frank, if there's any scrapping."

"One of two people may be a bit anxious about us," Franklin said carelessly. "Is there anybody in the States like to worry about you?"

"Not so that it matters," Buddy declared. "More likely to worry when they hear that I'm not dead, after all."

It does no harm to let the people who call themselves your friends think you are dead," Franklin remarked, helping himself liberally to mutton ham. "I've tried it, Buddy, and I know."

Buddy's answer was to lean forward on the table, with his head upon his arms. He did not even wake when he was being undressed and put to bed.

The morning was a fine one, sunshine returning to banish the grey sky and sea. The simple island folk had carried out Franklin's overnight instructions, asking for questions and taking the continuation of the journey very much for granted. But the morning was well advanced before Buddy Grant was ready to resume the journey.

Franklin chose the East coast of Great Britain as the easiest route, and once more the aeroplane justified all that had been claimed for it by the designers from whom Buddy Grant had purchased it. Early in the afternoon, when they had reached the neighborhood of Harwich, a plane which had been beating along the coast further eastwards than in obvious pursuit.

No use had been made of the wireless that day, though Franklin had abundant opportunities of transmitting messages. But the signals of the interested aeroplane could not well be ignored, and Franklin was soon in communication with the other plane by means of the wireless telephone.

"Are you Grant and Franklin, by any chance?" Your bus seems to answer out of the ether accurately."

"Grant and Franklin, all right," Allen Franklin conceded.

"Are you all right?" Mr. Blake sent up to you."

"The devil be hid," Franklin returned. "That was very thoughtful of Blake. We are quite all right; only a day behind the fair, that's all."

"What happened, then?"

"Lost our bearings, and got too far north. Ran out of petrol; but we managed to get petrol."

"Whither bound now?"

"Westminster Bridge, London."

Franklin said promptly.

"Sure you can make it?"

"What do you think yourselves?" Franklin asked.

"All right. We'll drop and report to Mr. Blake, George."

Franklin watched the other plane slip landwards and downwards. Presently he had to answer Buddy Grant's demand for knowledge.

"He" he asked absently.

"What won't? What horse won the race?"

"Parachute, I suppose."

"Did they say so, then?"

"I forgot to ask," Franklin replied.

"Oh, very well," Buddy said amiably.

"Suits me. Only thought we came over here to find out who won the horse race."

"They were searching for us," Franklin informed his pilot. "My pal Blake was very keen on finding us. It seems so, of course. Parachute won."

"Just as you say," Buddy agreed.

"Suits me. If it suits you."

Off the mouth of the Thames estuary an escort of three planes met them, and once more Franklin was engaged in telephone communication. Some attempt was made to dissuade him from his plan of following the river into the heart of London, but Allen Franklin would not listen to that.

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily and Baby Jack

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time there were two little frog boys named Bully and Bawly. Their last name was No Tail, as you may remember for I have told you some stories about them.

And after a while, there came to live with Mr. and Mrs. No Tail another little frog who was the baby of the family. That was what the new frog was called—"Baby."

It was all right for a time, to call him "Baby," but after a while Mr. No Tail said:

"Baby should have a regular name, such as Bully and Bawly have."

"What would you call our little frog?" croaked Mrs. No Tail.

"I'd call him Bowly," said the frog gentleman. "Then we would have Bully, Bawly and Bowly."

"Bowly isn't a pretty name at all," said the lady frog. "I think it should be Mountmouney, or something like that."

"Fiddlesticks!" croaked Mr. No Tail. "Fiddlesticks!" croaked the lady frog. "No, indeed! No child of mine shall ever be named Fiddlesticks!"

"I didn't mean that for a name," chuckled the gentleman frog. "I just said fiddlesticks as I might say pinch, or tush or nonsense! I mean Mountmouney is a such a silly name!"

"Think of a better one!" croaked his wife.

But the names the frog papa thought of weren't liked by his wife and her names were laughed at by Mr. No Tail.

One day, when Uncle Wiggily was sitting at his desk, he saw a little frog boy named Bully and Bawly. Their last name was No Tail, as you may remember for I have told you some stories about them.

One day, when Uncle Wiggily was sitting at his desk, he saw a little frog boy named Bully and Bawly. Their last name was No Tail, as you may remember for I have told you some stories about them.

And after a while, there came to live with Mr. and Mrs. No Tail another little frog who was the baby of the family. That was what the new frog was called—"Baby."

It was all right for a time, to call him "Baby," but after a while Mr. No Tail said:

"Baby should have a regular name, such as Bully and Bawly have."

"What would you call our little frog?" croaked Mrs. No Tail.

"I'd call him Bowly," said the frog gentleman. "Then we would have Bully, Bawly and Bowly."

"Bowly isn't a pretty name at all," said the lady frog. "I think it should be Mountmouney, or something like that."

"Fiddlesticks!" croaked Mr. No Tail. "Fiddlesticks!" croaked the lady frog. "No, indeed! No child of mine shall ever be named Fiddlesticks!"

"I didn't mean that for a name," chuckled the gentleman frog. "I just said fiddlesticks as I might say pinch, or tush or nonsense! I mean Mountmouney is a such a silly name!"

"Think of a better one!" croaked his wife.

But the names the frog papa thought of weren't liked by his wife and her names were laughed at by Mr. No Tail.

TIPS ON VARNISH

Varnish is almost transparent, except when colored, and produces when dry a hard, glossy film on the surface of the wood, protecting it from dampness and discoloration. Varnish should be applied with a brush, each coat being allowed to dry and then smoothed with fine glass-paper. The brush should always be moved in line with the grain of the wood.

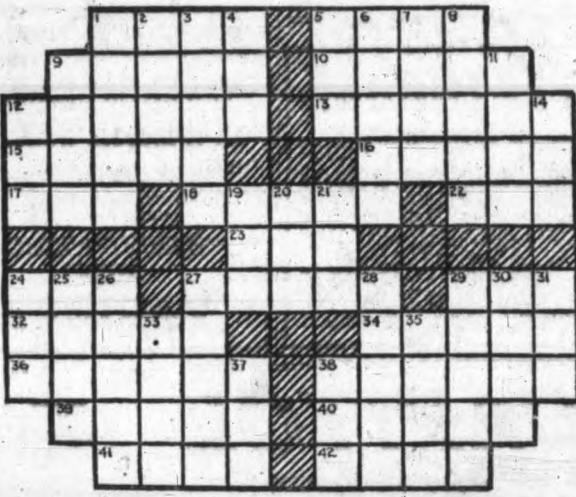

To prevent varnish from running over the edges of the wood the brush should always be moved outward toward the edges as the arrows indicate.

Spirit varnish dries very quickly, but to obtain the best results each coat should be allowed to harden for several hours.

After the first coat of varnish is applied to any surface, old sandpaper, worn smooth by previous use, should be employed and after the final coat the wood should not be rubbed at all. Sandpaper should always be rubbed in line with the grain, as it scratches the surface if rubbed cross-grain. Varnish may be used on bare wood or on paint. (Next: How to Polish)

To-morrow's Horoscope

Astrologers read this as an unfavorable day in planetary direction and for that reason advise caution in all important decisions or activities.

It is a day to rest and to catch up the loose ends of the week's work and not a time for any sort of initiative. Those who seek employment will benefit by postponing any active effort to obtain a position until a more favorable rule of the stars. The day makes for bad judgment of opportunities and for poor salesmanship where personal talents are concerned. Under this direction of the stars, business and double-dealing are advised to be discouraged. It is not favorable for political work. Warning again is given that there will be many severe storms at sea and ocean travelers would better study the weather chart before embarking. The coming winter season is to be marked by entertainments of great brilliance, but they will be conducted on the most conservative lines. In the meantime Education in America will continue to receive immense benefactions from millionaires. It is foretold, and the universities will perform important public service. Saturn now is held responsible for sinister forces that will affect the British Government. Ministers who are not unlike dictators will achieve new fame. It is prophesied that there will be heavy losses of human life before the holidays if the stars are rightly read. Persons whose birthdate it is should resist the temptation to change business or domestic associations. Promotion that is unexpected will come to many. It is assured

These subjects of Virgo usually succeed in material ambitions and when actually minded are remarkable for their understanding. Children born on this day probably will be ambitious to found homes and to centre their interests in domestic affairs. The Virgo women are generally fine housekeepers. (Copyright, 1928)

LEE JAXON PLAYERS IN SPECIAL MATINEE AT THE COLISEUM

A special matinee performance of "Kiss Me Carolina" will be given tomorrow afternoon at the Coliseum Theatre, commencing at 2 o'clock, by the Lee Jaxon players, who have been appearing at the Government Street theatre, every evening this week, and pleasing large and enthusiastic audiences. The play is one laugh after another from start to finish, and the audience is kept in continual uproar from the time the curtain rises until its final descent. Miss Dorothy Raymond plays the role of Carolina, and is much in demand, as the title suggests. Musical numbers this week are rendered by Miss Peggy Lewis, Miss Billie Rheams, Lee Jaxon and Jack Holt, as well as Miss Raymond. Others in the cast are Howard Van Alstyne, Charles Pollock and Tracey McDermott Jr.

On the screen this week are Laura La Plante and Glen Tryon in a comedy hit, "Thanks for the Buggy Ride." This exceptionally fine double bill of comedies, one on the stage and the other on the screen, will be presented tomorrow for the last time.

VARIETY THEATRE SHOWS FILM WITH DICK BARTHELMESS

Whiskers are thick in First National's picture, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," now at the Variety Theatre. Richard Barthelmess, the star, is one of the male members of the cast who does not sport a beard of one kind or another. Gardner James is the other.

CHARLIE MURRAY IS VAMPING VENUS NOW AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Gustav von Seyffertitz, grim and sinister screen villain, displays hitherto unsuspected talents as a comedian in "Vamping Venus," the first National comedy featuring Charlie Murray, which is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

RIN-TIN-TIN AT HIS BEST AT THE COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Rinty of the Desert," Warner Bros.' latest starring vehicle for the Wonder Dog, now playing at the Columbia Theatre, shows Rin-Tin-Tin at his rip-roaring best. The cast includes Audrey Ferris, Carol Nye, Paul Panzer, Otto Hoffman and Grover Ligon. Harvey Gates made the adaptation from a Frank Steele story and Ross Lederman again directed.

DOMINION STARS MARION DAVIES IN FINE STORY

Any family who cannot find some of their own characteristics to laugh about in the screen version of "The Patsy," starring Marion Davies, now at the Dominion Theatre, is either lacking in discernment or possesses funny-bones sheathed in armor plate. The family should see "The Patsy" in a body so as to nudge and pinch its. Afterwards they can all go home and live happier and funnier ever after.

Marion Davies as Patricia, the snub-nosed Cinderella of the Harrington family, wins, of course, first laurels, with the cleverest and most humorous characterization of the season. Dominated by her pompous mother and shrewish elder sister, her life is just one suppressed desire after another.

SPLENDID PICTURE OF ARCTIC WASTES NOW SHOWING HERE

One of the most striking and picturesque motion pictures of the year is shown at the Capitol Theatre last night when First National's first German-made picture, "The Strange Case of Captain Ramper," a Defu production, was shown. It is very timely in its story which concerns an aviator-explorer who set out for the North Pole only to have his plane crash amid the wastes of Arctic. His mechanic, dead, he lived alone, with only the polar bears to remind him there were other living things in the world.

After fifteen years he is found by whalers and mistaken for a strange Arctic ape-man, taken back to Europe and sold to a circus as a side-show curiosity.

A great scientist restores the man's mind and he emerges as the lost explorer, Ramper. He sees the European

GEO. ROBEY'S NEW REVUE IS BIG SUCCESS

"Between Ourselves" Full of Clever Comedy, Dainty Dancing and Fine Singing

In "Between Ourselves," the entirely new revue which was presented for its premier performance at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night, George Robey and his clever London company have found a worthy successor to the popular "Bits and Pieces" which completed a run of over one thousand nights on Wednesday.

As the famous comedian noted in his little speech of appreciation at the fall of the curtain, it is not an easy matter to stage a revue for the first time while a company is on tour, and "nowhere could it have received a more generous welcome and ready response than you have given it to-night." He also took occasion to pay a warm tribute to the many splendid men—"some of the finest fellows I ever met"—who comprised the Canadian contingent which rushed to the help of the Mother Land in her hour of need.

"Between Ourselves" is an elaborately-staged production. The color effects are unusually striking and beautiful, the costumes gorgeous and the settings elaborate. Miss Marie Blanche, the leading lady, is responsible for the costumes and the color effects, and she well deserved the ovation which greeted the announcement to this effect made by Mr. Robey last night.

The new revue presents a splendid vehicle for the display of Robey's inimitable gifts as a comedian. The theme is woven around Gretta Green and her sloping couple, Marie Blanche and George Robey, who arrive at the famous matrimonial bureau only to find that the blacksmith is absent. Before the ceremony can be performed the bride's father, the chief of the bride-elect arrives and then begins a chase which takes the revue in turn to London, where the Tower of London and the "Mephisto" is introduced, to Holland, with its tulip-fields, to Japan, to an Egyptian desert with its oasis, complete with oil-filling station and the notice "No Parker Here," and back to Gretta Green, where the wedding finally takes place with the consent of father.

As in "Bits and Pieces," Robey's gags and facial expressions kept the house in roars of laughter. One of the tower of his monologues was on the subject of "Faces," the audience laughing so heartily as to halt the show, while his "Mrs. Mephisto," in which he told of Shakespeare spending his days in the nether regions "roasting Bacon," in company with Good Queen Bess, Pussyfoot Johnson and other celebrities, past and present, created much hilarity.

Miss Blanche, who has endeared herself to local audiences by her delightful personality, and her tower of strength to the production. Her soprano voice is beautiful in its clarity and freshness, her enunciation perfect, and her singing "Japanese Moonlight," in a costume suggesting a dainty bit of Japanese porcelain, scored one of the biggest hits of the evening.

The new revue is enriched by the two sketches from "Bits and Pieces," in which Miss Blanche and Robey appear together, that of the London bobby and the policeman, and in the scene between the Cockney flower-sellers at Piccadilly Circus.

The Hippodrome Eight, the dainty girls who constitute the feminine chorus, excelled themselves last night and were received with a loud acclaim by the delighted audience. Never has Victoria seen a prettier or better-trained chorus. Their dancing is wonderfully finished and graceful, and their singing excellent. Among their most striking number was "Coaching Days," in which they appeared in elaborate costumes, and "Holland," where they nimbly danced in Dutch costume and clogs against a beautiful background of tulips.

"Power of London," in which they were natty "self-styled" in clever adaptations of the Yeoman of the Guard costumes, and in the British Forces number, where they gave a series of snappy dances in the garb of soldiers, sailors, and policemen.

Jenny Deane, the soubrette, danced and sang with dainty charm, and the three Robeys again demonstrated their skill as acrobats.

FINE SINGING
Robert Layton, the possessor of a very fine baritone voice, and his quartette of singers, appeared with much success in several numbers, notably "The Village Blacksmith," a song with a rollicking chorus and many topical allusions to the motor car.

Alfred Leonard, the violinist, was warmly applauded for his brilliant interpretation of the bagpipes.

Victoria may take much pride from the fact that in the presentation of "Between Ourselves," the theatre-goers have the opportunity of seeing a London production six months before it reaches the metropolis, an opportunity of which they should not fail to avail themselves either to-night, at tomorrow's matinee, or at the company's final appearance here on Saturday night.

EXISE OFFICER IS DISMISSED

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—Frederick Deely, special excise officer at Vancouver, B.C., has been removed from his position. It was learned at the Department of National Revenue.

The order in council rendering the dismissal effective, states that he was guilty of "gross negligence in the performance of his duties."

ELLIOTT HEADS CONSERVATIVES OF CITY AGAIN

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., thanked the electors of Victoria for placing him at the head of the poll, paid tribute to the party workers in the election and warned men out of work that little chance exists for Government jobs, because of the policy of economy practiced by the Government.

"I will back up Dr. Toimie in his pledge not to clean out the Civil Service because of their politics," he stated.

While on the Government benches, he would be no rubber stamp and proposed to reserve the right of friendly criticism.

"We will try to do something for Victoria. We do not intend to press the Government at once, but your Victoria members are going to see that they get something before our term is out or you will hear something about it," he said.

Mr. Hayward hoped the Government would take the whole Legislature over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and let the members see for themselves that great asset of the Province.

VICTORIA KIND

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education and acting Attorney-General, considered that Victoria had been more kind to him than any of his fellow members. Coming to Victoria ten years ago, he had been elected to the Legislature four times, he recalled, expressing thanks for the confidence accorded him by the people.

"These pledges are being carried out to-day," he asserted, citing non-political control of the Provincial Police as an example. "Action by me to secure a change of location of an officer, or employment of an applicant, would result in the immediate dismissal of the officer or shut the door against an applicant. So I now say to all, 'It can't be done,'" he said.

"This does not mean there will be no jobs for Conservatives, but it does mean that no Conservative can get a job for $600,000 and be paid $600,000 for doing it. It does mean that no Conservative can get a job at $500 monthly when another man will do it for $200. Those days have gone," he said.

Mr. Hinchliffe said that if Dr. Toimie should wish to retreat from his announced attitude, an unimaginable contingency, four Ministers would hold him to his course, all but one wealthy employer who pay employees more salary than they receive themselves as Cabinet Ministers.

There will be plums, and it is right that those plums should go to Conservatives, but the late Government went into the business of raising plums," he said.

While men in Government service, who are unnecessary, will have to go, Mr. Hinchliffe expected full adherence to pledges of non-interference with needed civil servants because of their political affiliations.

"There will be very little interference from the voters with Dr. Toimie or his followers so long as Dr. Toimie is our leader," he said, forecasting a Conservative Government for many years to come.

GOOD GOVERNMENT

James H. Beatty, M.P.P., thanked the electors for their confidence in him, adding: "Dr. Toimie promised us good government, nothing more, and that was why he was put in office by the people."

He touched upon the improved outlook for sale of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, and believed that recent reception of two new offers indicate the line would be disposed of at a fair price to the Province.

Mr. Beatty forecast extension of the
